DAVIS CUP CONTEST

Challenge Round Will Be Played at West Side Tennis Club Sept. 1-4

WITH the Women's Championship completed, the next important event of the West Side Tennis Club will be the Challenge Round of the Davis Cup Contest on Sept. 1, 2 and 4.

Australia has won the right to play the United States for the most famous trophy in international sport by having defeated Belgium, Czechoslovakia, France and Spain. Its record in those matches shows clearly that the United States will face the stiffest competition in the Challenge Round that it has experienced since the memorable matches of 1914, when Norman Brookes and Maurice McLoughlin made tennis history.

Upon William T. Tilden, 2nd, R. N. Williams, 2nd, William M. Johnston and Vincent Richards is placed the responsibility of defending the cup against the onslaught of Gerald L. Patterson holder of the World's Championship, James O. Anderson and Pat. O'Hara Wood.

The outcome will be determined by the results of three days' play. On Friday there will be two singles matches, the first beginning at 2:30 P. M. Doubles will begin at 2:30 on Saturday and on Monday (Labor Day) the remaining two singles matches will be played, the first starting at 2:30 P. M.

The advance sale of series tickets, which are the only ones that can be secured before the matches, is heavy and to make sure of a reserved seat for the three days, applications should be addressed to Harry Parker, treasurer, 181 Park Avenue, New York, accompanied by check for $5.25 for each ticket.

Women's National Championship

The Women's National Championship brought forth an entry of 54 players representative of the best in the United States and again the singles proved to be a triumph for Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, who won the championship by defeating Miss Helen Wills, the young girl of San Francisco.

Doubtless the most exciting contest of the whole tournament was the finals of the doubles in which Miss Wills and Mrs. Marion Zinderstein Jessup of Wilmington, defeated Mrs. Mallory and Miss Edith Sigourney of Boston.

FOREST HILLS GARDENS HOMES COMPANY ACTIVE

The Forest Hills Gardens Homes Company has recently awarded the contract for the construction of one dozen houses on Whitson Street, between Puritan and Ascan Avenues. This group is to consist of six semi-detached six room houses, four semi-detached seven room houses and two detached eight room houses.

The contract has been let to the Roger Black Co., Inc., 452 Lexington Avenue, New York, which recently completed a beautiful residence at Kensington Gardens for Walter Stabler, controller of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., and is constructing a number of other high grade suburban homes at the present time.

The Forest Hills Gardens Homes Company owns a large tract of land in the Gardens and proposes to cover it with houses of the same high grade type of construction which has prevailed here since the development began and which has made it such an ideal suburban district.

Robert Tappan, a resident of the Gardens, has designed this group of houses, and Grosvenor Atterbury and his associate, John Almy Tompkins, also of the Gardens, have approved the exterior elevations.

THE GARDENS TEA ROOM

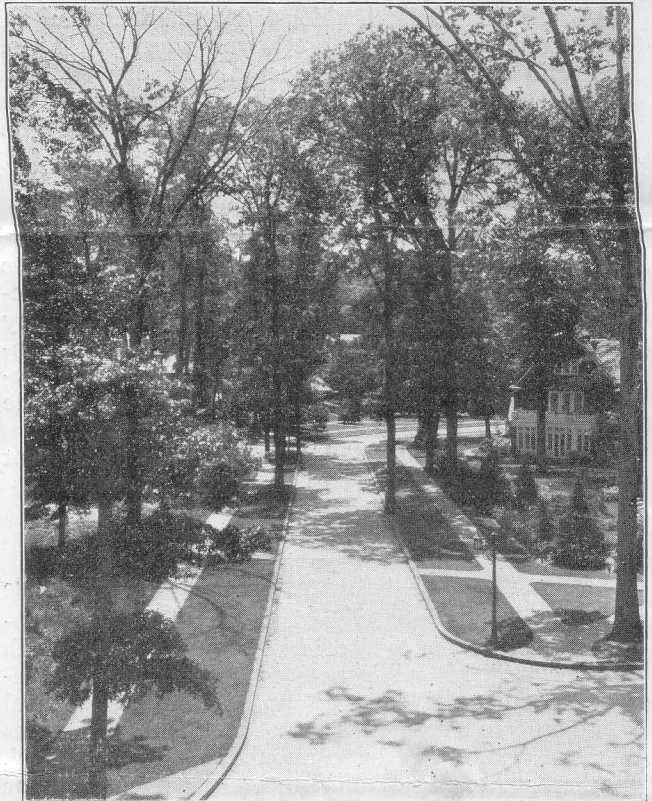

The Gardens Tea Room has opened under new management, Mrs. Maude Gross in charge. Luncheon and dinner are served not only to those who regularly dine there but many residents of the Gardens occasionally are served and all are enthusiastic over the cuisine. Particular attention will be given to special luncheon parties.

BIRDS ARE FRIENDS

To Attract and Keep Them Here Is Aim of Audubon Society

THE eighth annual report of the officers of the Forest Hills Gardens Audubon Society, covering a period from June 8, 1921 to June 8, 1922, shows that the work of the organization is going quietly and steadily on, as it has since the organization on April 9, 1914.

The aims of the society have been to attract birds to the village and then to keep them here and to interest the residents in these feathered friends. The birds are needed to save the priceless trees, shrubs and flowers from the pests that would destroy them and their songs are needed to lift the men and women, boys and girls from things material. Bird houses have been placed in hospitable trees, in private yards and in the parks and the people have been encouraged to keep the houses clean and ready for the occupants. Generous and friendly winter feeding of many pounds of grain has saved the life of many a bird when the snow has been on the ground.

All through the years, a continuous program of education has been carried on by the organization to interest the adults in the birds and to train the children in the intelligent care of these valuable song birds. On last Nov. 5, the society presented T. Gilbert Pearson, president of the National Association of Audubon Societies, to the people of the Gardens when he spoke on the varieties and habits of birds, particularly in the nesting season.

Especially important is the work which the organization is doing with children. Once or twice a year, as a

FOREST HILLS IN SUMMER

"THIS has been a beautiful summer", is the remark one hears on every hand, expressed sincerely by the people who have spent June, July and August in Forest Hills. Of course we all need a change of scene and climate sometime during the year and we usually take that vacation period in summer, but we do not need to leave the village for the entire summer to find rest, comfort and recreation. The summer renters in Forest Hills and the regular residents who have stayed here through the season are enthusiastic over Forest Hills as a summer resort.

No matter how hot it is on Manhattan, it is always cooler on Long Island. You know the delightful and refreshing breeze which greets you when you get off the train at Forest Hills after a busy day on Manhattan—every one feels it. Within a minute of Station Square is the West Side Tennis Club, the Wimbledon of America. For a small annual fee you may play tennis on the well-kept courts of Forest Hills Inn. Bordering on the village is the central feature of the Queens Park system—Forest Park with its 536 acres of forest and glen, its 18-hole golf course, its 18 tennis courts, baseball grounds and other attractions. A short drive away is the Pomonok Country Club which offers an excellent golf course to its members. A 35-minute drive will bring you to the picturesque shores of Long Island Sound and in one hour you may reach the ocean at Long Beach.

A very happy and delightful season has been spent in Forest Hills by all the 1922 summer residents.

FILL OUT AND MAIL THE ENCLOSURE

IN the last issue of the BULLETIN a request was made that each one who wished to have the paper continued after September would signify on a blank which was enclosed, his willingness to support the publication. A number of letters of appreciation and approval of the scheme have reached the editor and suggestions of ways and means have also been gladly received. Of the 2450 copies of the BULLETIN mailed with the enclosure, 70 have brought replies. This would be a disappointing return if it were not for the fact that this is vacation period, when absence from home and irregular mails may account for the small number of replies.

If you wish to see the BULLETIN continued after Oct. 1, please fill out and mail the enclosed blank now.

LABOR DAY CELEBRATION

The members of Forest Hills Association are looking forward with much interest to Labor Day when it is expected to have the 18-hole putting course at the Seminole Avenue Club House opened. They are now enjoying the 2-hole driving course. Both courses were laid out by Devereux Emmet and built under his supervision.

WELCOME TO DON MARQUIS.

To begin with, his name is Donald Robert Perry Marquis: in short, Don Marquis. It is pronounced Markwiss, not Markee.

He was born in Walnut, Ill., a sufficient number of years ago to be now in the prime of life. He has lived at various times in the West, in the South, in the East, and in Brooklyn. He has moved to Forest Hills Gardens, 51 Wendover Road.

Much of the interest which is attached to his very rich and varied personality reaches him vicariously, for the admirers of Archy will not yield second place even to the man who created him, and Hermione with her little group of serious thinkers, Fothergil Finch who blew out his brains some time ago and has been writing what Dulcy might call "marvellous" poetry ever since, Captain Fitzurse, the Old Soak, and even Gladys, late lamented daughter of the bootlegger—all these come in for their share of attention and admiration.

The publication of "The Old Soak" in book form placed Don Marquis—comparisons are odious, but we venture it—in direct line with Joel Chandler Harris. In "The Old Soak" and in "Uncle Remus," there are fixed for all time, as the critics say, two distinct American characters who, for all their differences, are alike, in that each is a type of a vanishing race and each preserves between the covers of a noble book the tender grace of a day that is dead.

The play "The Old Soak" opening at the Plymouth Theatre, on Aug. 22, proves that Don Marquis is a successful playwright also.

The Don Marquis of the Sun Dial is known to everybody, but there is another Don Marquis who will surprise you if you have not yet come upon him. We cannot use the word "serious" because that is dedicated to Hermione, but we mean the Don Marquis of "Dreams and Dust," "Carter," (to mention them in the order in which they were published) and "Poems and Portraits." If "The Old Soak" definitely established him as a great humorist (and there seems no doubt about it) "Poems and Portraits" definitely established him as a great poet, if universal enjoyment from the critics, and universal acclaim from the authors themselves can so establish one. "Carter," especially the title story in the volume, indicates his power of prose fiction and perhaps—there are those who hope so—foreshadows that much of his best work in the future will lie in this field.

As we said in the beginning, Don Marquis is now in the prime of life. The good work which he has already done has found a secure place for him in the history of American literature. He is a man of great talent, perhaps genius—it is hard to tell. But however all this may be, the best of his work lies ahead of him. Because of this, the good wishes of thousands (and thousands) of people go with him into the lovely village which he has chosen for his home, but most of all they wish him good health, long life, peace, and plenty and all the other blessings which add to the sum total of human happiness simply because he is Don Marquis.

A FRIEND OF THE OLD SOAK.

MR. GOUDY HONORED

The American Institute of Architects recently bestowed upon Frederic W. Goudy, Deepdene Road, the Allied Arts Gold Medal for meritorious work in the art of typography and devotion to its achievement. The Canadian Printer and Publisher prints in its current number the following comment in an editorial of appreciation: "It is pleasing to note that the achievements of the printer of Forest Hills Gardens, who is probably entitled to a place in the halls of fame with Caslon, Morris, et al, has been fittingly recognized outside of the printing fraternity". Mr. Goudy is undoubtedly the foremost living type designer and it is gratifying that the Canadian paper places him with the great of the past.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Claypoole announce the birth of a daughter Dorothy Allison Claypoole, on July 23 at Boothbay Harbor, Maine, where Mrs. Claypoole is spending the summer.

Work on the new stores and apartments at Continental Avenue and Queens Boulevard is being pushed rapidly for completion Oct. 1.

Construction for a house for Paul A. Phillips has been started on Nome Street.

A FAMILIAR EPISTLE TO DON MARQUIS, ESQ.

By R. Renaud

On the occasion of his CELEBRATED ASSERTION that Forest Hills is "the cleanest suburb of Brooklyn" and his RELUCTANT ADMISSION that he himself has resided in a CERTAIN SECTION

What! Linked to Brooklyn? We of Forest Hills Where not a rubber plant its fragrance spills! Where baby-carriage-chauffeurs scarcely dare Invade, for public pity, Station Square! No Brooklynites are we, who proudly quote The city's record ANTI-HYLAN vote. 'Twas we who humbled haughty Bushwick, Don. And hung the raspberry on HONEST JOHN. 'Tis true that here HERMIONE may find New Cosmic Urges (of the better kind); 'Tis true FITZURSE three fingers might locate (By sniffing) in this Almost Perfect State. By all means bring your puppet cabinet To share our Culture here, and yet—and yet— Sure the OLD SOAK, a jug of booze, and thou Could incubate paralysis enow Without assigning us a habitat In Brooklyn....Bo, 'twas ARCHY told you that, Or else MEHITABEL, his lady friend. Intent some fish-head, forage to extend. But hold!—We MAY be linked to Brooklyn....Say, Did you not once reside out Flatbush way? Do not the streets of Midwood still reveal The prints of genius from your rubber heel? They do? My Boy, you've spilled the psychic beans— The tie that binds from Borough Hall to Queens! We're linked, indeed, to Brooklyn now. I think, But—Listen, Kid!—WHO IS THE MISSING LINK?

THE CHURCH-IN-THE-GARDENS

The regular Sunday morning service at 11 o'clock will be resumed on Sept. 10. Dr. Charles E. Burton will preach.

Rev. Chauncey C. Adams, First Congregational Church, Burlington, Vt., will be the preacher on Sept. 17.

The Church School will hold its first session at the regular hour, 9:45 A. M., on Sunday, Sept. 24.

The Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor will hold its first meeting on Sunday evening, Oct. 1.

May we remind newcomers in the community, and those who have not yet affiliated with other churches, that the Church-in-The-Gardens is a community church? There are eight different denominations represented in its membership. You are most cordially invited to worship with us. Especially do we want your children and young people to become acquainted with the Church School and Young People's Society. The attendance at the Church School increased 50 per cent. last year.

Wanted:—Church School teachers and substitutes—men and women. Could you wish for a more highly multiplying piece of service than to help in the religious education of these attractive children? And there is no service so acceptable as volunteer service. Please do not wait to be asked. Ask Arthur H. Flint, moderator of the church in the absence of a pastor, for a share in this important work.

gift of the Long Island Bird Club, Mrs. Mary S. Sage speaks to all the children in the public schools of the village. On December 13 she gave four illustrated talks to the different groups of public school children in Public School 3, driving home the facts that "every bird is a friend and every bird has a work to do." The school principal and the teachers cooperate in this work of reaching the children at the most impressionable ages when the impressions are the most lasting.

In the parade on last Independence Day, the group representing the Audubon Society received the first prize for the most original group, which consisted of a large crow—George Woodard, followed by Harriet Woodard, as a black-bird and Luirleane Harris as a thrush, the two girls carrying a large bird house made by C. H. W. Hasselriis and then came Carl Joys, a robin, and Hartley Joys, a bluebird. Nancy Hanks, as a grape vine completed the group. George Woodard and Nancy Hanks each received prizes for individual costumes.

As a regular medium of publicity, the Audubon Society uses the BULLETIN. Also the artistic posters on the lamp posts have recorded pictures and bird notes. It is a regrettable fact that the society is put to considerable expense and trouble in replacing the glass in the posters. How is the glass broken? It is the hope of the society that such careless breaking of the glass will cease.

In connection with the Long Island Bird Club, the organization is trying to influence the officers of all country clubs and golf clubs of Long Island to make their grounds bird reservations.

The officers of the society are: Honorary President, Robert W. DeForest; president, Mrs. George Smart; vice president, Harold P. Daniels; secretary, Miss Mary E. Knevels, and treasurer, Speir Whitaker. The chairmen of the committees are: field work, Fritz Hagens; work with schools, Mrs. George Smart; bird enemies, Harold P. Daniels; country clubs, Miss Mary E. Knevels; lamp post posters, Mrs. Genevieve B. Johnstone and publicity, John M. Demarest.

There are three life members, who have paid $25 each: H. H. Buckley, C. C. Foster and Mrs. Anna C. Boyd. Are there not more who would like to be life members? One dollar qualifies one for membership for one year. Membership dues will be most willingly received by Speir Whitaker, treasurer.

THE OFFICERS OF THE FOREST HILLS GARDENS AUDUBON SOCIETY.

DRIVE QUIETLY—DRIVE SLOWLY

Wouldn't Forest Hills be a delighted place to live in if everybody drove his automobile with mufflers cut out?

"In the eyes of the law," as our friends the lawyers are wont to say, an automobile driven with the muffler cut out is a nuisance and if the ears of the residents should have a vote, they would make it unanimous. If you must commune with your motor go somewhere in the great outdoors where you can enjoy it all by yourself. No one else wants to hear it. Don't be a nuisance. It doesn't sound well.

Within two weeks, in the Gardens, there were two accidents at one crossing that escaped being very serious by a very narrow margin. Smashed automobiles and lamp posts are of little importance; fractured bones and bruised flesh can generally be remedied, but some day something may happen that mechanics and doctors will be powerless to repair. Then there will be flowers and soft music and solemn words and tears and some one will be sorry.

Let's make Forest Hills a pleasanter and safer place in which to live. Drive quietly. Drive slowly.

J. GORTON MARSH,
CHAIRMAN, COMMITTEE ON STREETS
COMMUNITY COUNCIL

A BUSY SEASON PLANNED

At the annual meeting of the Gardens Players, the following officers were elected, their term of office to begin Sept. 1: President, Edward Swazey; vice president, Maude Marren; secretary-treasurer, Mary Taylor; corresponding secretary, Helen Hoelt; directors, Bertha Mandel, Harvey Warren, Walter Hartwig, Walter Teague and Elsa Young. Mrs. Augustine J. Wilson was elected to replace Edward Swazey as director.

The Players wish to express their appreciation of the support given by the community in their production of "Prunella". This was a big undertaking for an amateur organization and the Players anticipate doing better and bigger work this coming season than ever before. Their activities begin immediately after the summer season is over.

ONE WOMAN'S ENTERPRISE

There are many men and women in Forest Hills excelling in different directions and it is always interesting to see the new fields of endeavor which are undertaken. Prettier and better than any cakes I have ever tasted are the ones being made and sold by Mrs. Kitti Duling. There are large cakes and little cakes with decorated icing—the icing made in twelve kinds of flowers and other pretty forms in many different color schemes. The icing is soft and yet firm and the cakes are delicious. Mrs. Duling's ambition is to excel in this work and she has succeeded. Her telephone number is Boulevard 6631.
