SUCCESSFUL PROGRAM

Christmas Eve Celebration Carried Off With Great Charm to the Delight of Everyone

Carols Are Sung Throughout the Village—Station Square Finale and Inn Program Complete the Festivities

Santa Claus visited every house in the Gardens and left a little Christmas gift for each kiddie as he journeyed with the Christmas Eve carolers through the Gardens. The float, trimmed in red and green garlands and lighted with many electric lights, the brilliant Christmas tree, and the singing of the old Christmas carols, are all a part of the picture which will linger in the memory of the people of the Gardens. After the long journey through the village, which consumed almost three hours, the pageant reached the Station Square, where hundreds of people waited to hear the final program under the direction of Bruno Huhn, leader, and Mrs. Charles H. Scammell, accompanist.

Station Square

The larged mixed chorus of 75 voices in the Station Square gave a brilliant program of songs. There were some songs by the men and some by the women, as well as by the mixed chorus. The chorus work was the best ever done in Forest Hills and was received with enthusiasm and sincere appreciation by the people who listened. Mrs. Jewell St. Leger Aldrich, as the "Christmas Spirit," thrilled the large audience with her glorious voice. One critic said that she had never sung better in the many times she has delighted the people here with her singing. Her voice is one of great volume, intensity of expression, and she has wonderful dramatic power. The cornet obligato played by the "Park Sisters" was a great addition to the program, adding variety and color with smoothness of tone, rarely accomplished with cornets. Throughout the evening the Kane Lodge Masonic quartette, with their well trained voices, were of much assistance to the carolers and to the chorus work in the Square. It is a difficult thing to mention any particular singers but Henry O. Bates, Henry Hirschberg, George B. Everitt, and John Messenger were of great assistance in the evening's program. Chester I. Barnard at the organ on the float and William L. Fleming at the chimes, added very much to the program.

Program at the Inn

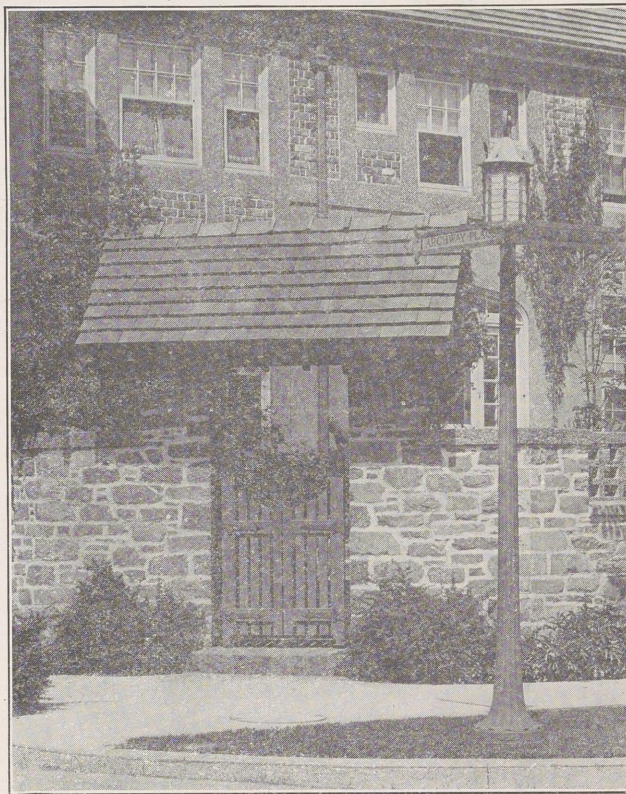

After the Station Square program, the management of the Inn entertained the Christmas Eve Carol Club and its friends, and all who had helped in any way with the celebration. The large dining room was completely filled with tables around which the people sat and enjoyed the refreshments and a special program. Miss Beatrice Reinhart, who was leading lady with Walter Hampden in "George Washington" delighted the people with her Christmas story. She is a resident of the Gardens and a great addition to the village life. Miss Adelaide Burns-Wood, soprano, accompanied by Miss Katherine Perry, sang a group of songs, which was much enjoyed, and the chorus sang several numbers. John M. Demarest expressed the opinion of all when he said that especial thanks were due to Dr. R. W. Waddell chairman of the Celebrations Association for the evening's program, to Mrs. Charles H. Scammell, and to Louis P. McGahie.

COMMUNITY COUNCIL

The next meeting of the Community Council will be held in the Church-in-the-Gardens on Jan. 21. at 8 P. M. Judge Burt J. Humphrey will speak on the subject "Some Criminals I have Known."

MEETINGS OF FOREST HILLS LODGE

The regular meetings of Forest Hills Lodge No. 946, F. & A. M., take place the first and third Tuesday of each month. The lodge room will be open on every other Tuesday evening for general Masonic work.

CARE OF SICK SOLDIERS

The committee appointed from the Community Council to investigate the Fox Hill, Staten Island hospital, with a view to inviting some of the convalescent soldiers to a dinner in Forest Hills, made a trip to the hospital Monday, Dec. 20. The members found a great many pathetic cases as well as a number of encouraging ones where recovery is assured. They learned however, that on the whole there were very few men able to take the trip from Staten Island to Forest Hills. They decided that instead of a dinner the greatest need was money to be expended for the entertainment of the men right there in the hospital.

One member of the committee came forward and offered funds from the local chapter of the Red Cross, money which had been left in their treasury and which they would be glad to have spent for war relief. With this money the committee bought a new piano, a victrola and a hundred records, paid one man's way home to Boston for Christmas, subscribed to two daily papers, and bought a dozen games each of chess, checkers, and dominoes. The committee also gave a sum of money to be expended from time to time for entertainments.

On Friday, Dec. 24, several ladies of the committee went to the hospital to present these purchases and carried with them a large holly wreath with the inscription "Merry Christmas from Forest Hills." The gifts were enthusiastically and gratefully received by the men who seemed to be much touched by the personal element in the visit of the committee.

This committee plans to keep in touch with the hospital in the future, and to make the men feel that the people of Forest Hills are indeed their friends.

A COMMUNITY CELEBRATION

EVERY now and then something in our village takes place which brings into prominence the family idea and whenever that happens we have made progress. The home is the foundation of the Republic and also the corner-stone of any community life. Whatever brings together old and young, those of talents and those without, those of much means and those with very little, all in the interest of some great ideal, should be fostered. Whatever tends to obliterate the false standards and helps people to forget the material things is to be cherished. For when men and women go up or down to a common level of genuine and decent play or honest endeavor, they throw off the husks and outer trimmings of our civilization and meet as man to man and woman to woman. Better understanding is the result and warmer friendships are encouraged.

In the Christmas Eve celebration this year, whole families took part. Fathers and sons marched together, carrying torches: daughters held the torches at the Station Square, so that their mothers could see the music. Santa Claus had his own sons and daughters in the pageant. Whenever parents play with their own children, whether those children be two or twenty years old, there is a distinct step forward in the family life. Parents learn just as much, if not more, from their children (lessons of the spirit) than they ever teach the children. Recreation and fun with the neighbors' children helps us to understand our neighbors. The Christmas Eve celebration was a family celebration and the whole community came together as one family, interested in childhood in general and paying homage to the Babe of Bethlehem.

Let us carry this family spirit throughout the year in our community life!

THE WATER RATE SITUATION

The Community Council is closely watching the water situation with a view to preventing the charging of a higher rate in Forest Hills than in other parts of Greater New York. The Chamber of Commerce of Queens has been requested to take the matter up for investigation and has promised to consider the request at the January meeting of the board of directors. The proposed increase of water rates was thoroughly discussed at a recent conference of representatives of the Community Council and the Citizens' Water Supply Co. J. Edward Meyer, president of the company expressed his willingness to have a full investigation and to sell the property to the city at a fair price. The citizens of Forest Hills are counting upon the Community Council as a representative of their interests.

HINDU PHILOSOPHER

The Women's Club Listens to a Tale of India From a Native
—$1,000 Voted for Community House.

"Listen only to silence, let sounds take care of themselves," said Dhan Gopal Mukerji a Hindu philosopher, dressed in the Hindu costume of two tones of pongee, having created an atmosphere of the mystical and metaphysical, before the Women's Club, on last Monday afternoon, at the Inn. He was speaking under the auspices of the current readings chapter on the subject "The India of Tagore and Kipling." To bring out his subject, he made reference to some of the Jungle Tales, "Kim" and "Without Benefit of Clergy" by Kipling and "The Crescent Moon" of Tagore. The speaker said that Kipling does not know the Hindu woman but he does know the Hindu man, while Tagore describes the woman better than he does the man. He said: "The Hindu woman is denied the holiness and fullness of wifehood, but she enjoys motherhood to the full. The Hindu woman stops at the open door of the future." With reference to the universal interest in religion in India the speaker said: "Behind all living is spirituality. The desire for religion is deep seated and by that I do not mean piety, for piety is the opium of religion. You feel the love of religion when you are in India." With reference to education in his country, Mr. Mukerji said: "Only ten per cent of the people of India have learned to read and write and the women are very slow to wish to learn." He made a deep impression of the need of meditation in this country. Helping to foster the atmosphere created by the speaker, Miss Elsie McGall Persons sang two groups of songs, one of which was "A Song of India." She sang sweetly and with feeling.

Business Meeting

Mrs. William Patterson, Miss Rose Terry and Mrs. E. Keveney were received as new members. The sum of $1,000 was voted to the Community House fund. Mrs. Augustine J. Wilson and Mrs. Edgar Dyer Sealy were elected delegates and Mrs. Donald G. Clark and Mrs. Loulis D. Speir alternates to the City Federation of Women's Clubs, which meets on Feb. 4 at the Hotel Astor.

Chapters

Before the appearance of the next regular edition of the BULLETIN the current readings chapter will meet at the home of Mrs. E. H. Mays, 175 Slocum Crescent, on Jan. 11, at 2:30 P. M. when Mrs. George Smart will review "What's on the Worker's Mind" by Whiting Williams and the philanthropic chapter will meet at the home of Mrs. Forry R. Getz 60 Olive Place, at 2:30 P. M. on Jan. 18.

Wickersham Lecture

Tickets are being sold at the drug stores, the Inn and by the members of the current events chapter for the lecture by the Hon. George W. Wickersham on "Our Foreign Relations" which will be given at the Church-in-the-Gardens for the benefit of the Community House fund. The tickets are one dollar each and only a limited number will be sold. Those who expect to go are urged to buy tickets now. Lawrence F. Abbott president of the Men's Club will introduce the speaker.

WINTER FEEDING OF BIRDS

The birds are still singing in Olivia Park. For several seasons now they have continued to sing there all winter and we want them to establish the habit. There is only one way to do it, and that is to make them so happy that they will want to stay. Harold P. Daniels, 20 Markwood Road, has consented to keep the feeding station in the park filled with the bird food. If the people who want this food will go to him or to Mrs. Mary Hoppe, principal of the public school, who is looking after the feeding station in the playground, they can get some of the grain for their own use. The Forest Hills Gardens Audubon Society has made it a custom to distribute about fifty pounds of grain each winter and will be glad to put out more if there is need of it.

"EAGER HEART"

Entirely appropriate and charming was the play "Eager Heart" which was given in the Church-in-the-Gardens on Dec. 27 and 28 by the Gardens Players, for the benefit of the Community House fund. Bertha Mandell directed the performance and deserves much credit for its success. The prologue given by Edward Swazey as "Time" and Arthur Wilson as "Eternity" was most convincingly done. Maida Birmingham as "Eager Heart" carried the part throughout, with religious fervor and zeal. Her voice and acting were all that they should be for that lovely part. Miss Birmingham played the same part at St. George's last year with the same marked success. Jewell Aldrich as "Eager Sense" and Lolita Cordon as "Eager Fame" played up to what we expect of them. The shepherds, Marjorie Wilson, Walter Claypoole and Channing Hare, the three kings Clarence Perry, Eric Huneker and Harvey Warren all were well chosen for their parts and added much to the Christmas story. Channing Hare as the "Poor Man" was convincing and Molly Warren as the "Poor Woman," although she had no speaking part, was good to look upon. The angels were a lovely part of the picture too.

Henry O. Bates sang "Oh Night Divine!" beautifully. But please why did we not hear the angel chorus of long ago. Mrs. George C. LeBlanc did nobly at the organ but choral singing would have added much to the lasting impression of the beauty of the whole. It was a charming and impressive evening but it needed more music.

Where were the people of the village? The audience was small the first night and not large the second. Such an artistic and beautiful entertainment as this was not appreciated by the large crowd which ought to have been present.

An Observer

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Angell Mrs. A. P. Maddux and Miss Helen Maddux were holiday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Scammell, Greenway Terrace. Mrs. Angell and Mrs. Maddux played beautifully on cornets in the program on Christmas Eve in Station Square. They and Mrs. Scammell are professionally known as the "Park Sisters."

Dr. and Mrs. R. W. Waddell, Groton Street, are entertaining Dr. Waddell's mother, Mrs. J. M. Waddell, of Greenfield Ohio. On Monday afternoon she fell and injured her foot and fractured her arm.

Mrs. T. J. Arter of Youngstown, Ohio and her son, Adelbert Arter, of Lehigh University, visited Dr. and Mrs. Waddell during the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. I. K. Ward and Miss Helen, Borage Place, spent Christmas in Baltimore with relatives.

Mrs. David Springsteen has announced the engagement of her daughter, Ella A. Springsteen, to George E. Batcheller, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Batcheller 160 Greenway North. Miss Springsteen is a graduate of Parker Collegiate Institute and Mr. Batcheller is a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Found—Black fox fur piece Christmas Eve. Inquire of Mrs. Charles H. Scammell, 14 Greenway Terrace.

Found—A child's gold ring. Inquire of Mrs. Harry Spanenberg, Whitson Street.

THE INN

Once again the Inn has settled down to a quiet, resigned basis after the strenuous days of the holiday season, which, however, were such a tremendous success that each one of the splendid family of employees and staff are most gratified in knowing that their efforts and hard work for the happiness of others were not in vain. Commencing with the supper served to over four hundred of the carolers and guests of the Gardens on Christmas Eve until the Saturday night dance on New Year's Day, it was one continual round of festivity. Twenty-two stockings were hung at the big chimney on Christmas Eve, and Santa Claus was most liberal in lavishing his gifts upon the children of the Inn, besides delighting them with his august presence on Christmas morning. The New Year supper dance was more largely attended than since its inauguration three years ago, but the seating was greatly helped by the addition of the new blue room overlooking the Square which was opened on Thanksgiving Day. The favors of delightful ostrich feather fans in various colors were much enjoyed by the ladies and the whole affair was seemingly a huge success.

All the younger folks of the Inn who are at college and school were home with their parents over the Christmas holidays, including Jerome A. Watrous, son of Mr. and Mrs. Watrous, of the Inn, and who is a student at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology; Miss Daisy Wright of Smith, and her brother, Albert Wright, Jr., of Harvard; Miss Ruth Ungerman, daughter of Mrs. E. A. Ungerman, of Birmingham, who attends Dana Hall of Wellesley, and her brother, Charles, who attends St. Luke's School in North Carolina.

Capt. and Mrs. A. T. Shurick have recently arrived at the Inn after a delightful honeymoon through the south.

Mrs. W. L. Harris, mother of Mrs. Gauntlett, of the Inn, is spending some time visiting her daughter, after which she will return to her home in Minneapolis.

Mrs. W. W. Gray and Miss Agnes are at present visiting in Washington, but will return to the Inn next week.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Daniel, with their small son, Lucian, are among the new arrivals at the Inn. Mrs. J. A. Hughes, mother of Mrs. Daniel, spent some time with her daughter, but has now returned to her home in Huntington W. Va.

Mrs. C. J. Hasselman and her two little daughters spent the New Year holidays at the Inn.

Mrs. F. E. Kessler, of Helena, Montana, and her two daughters, Misses Helen and Louise, are making a short stay at the Inn, where they have many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Smith, of Grand Rapids, Michigan, are expected at the Inn in the very near future. Mrs. Smith has just recovered from a serious operation.

Among other arrivals are Mrs. R. M. Shannon, of Piqua, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. John W. Evans of St. Joseph, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Wilson-Laurenson and their small son; Mr. C. W. Hadden and Mr. Owen Rossiter of Boston.

BENEFIT BRIDGE

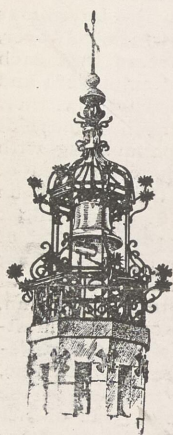

Mrs. Edward Willard Holland, 56 Shorthill Road, is planning a benefit bridge party on the evening of Jan. 14 at her home when the proceeds will go to the Infanterium, 509 East 77th Street, New York. The tables will be $5 each and this price includes refreshments. Mrs. Charles H. Scammell, Mrs. Murray Brown, Mrs. Walter S. Mayer, Mrs. James R. Woodrough and Mrs. Joseph S. Maxwell are assisting Mrs. Holland. A few tables are left and may be reserved by telephoning to the hostess, Boulevard 6111.

The Infanterium is greatly in need of sweaters caps, stockings or small blankets. Mrs. Holland will gladly receive these and see that they reach the institution.

The Infanterium is a nonsectarian, charitable institution. It opened in July 1918 and a few months later was incorporated. It receives and takes charge of infants under two years of age suffering from malnutrition, from disorders arising from improper feeding or from underfeeding, whose parents are too destitute or helpless to care for them properly. So far as the institution knows it is the only one admitting infants under two weeks of age, or under seven pounds in weight.

Found—Child's brown sweater. Inquire of Mrs. N. B. Pope, 36 Rockrose Place.

THE CHURCH-IN-THE-GARDENS

The annual meeting of the church will be held in the social room on Wednesday evening, Jan. 12, 1921, for the election of officers, including three trustees, to fill the vacancies caused by the retiring of those whose term of office expires, and the hearing of reports of the various organizations of the church and the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the meeting. The Women's Guild will serve dinner at 6:30. This dinner and social hour immediately preceding the annual meeting of the church has become an institution, and is by no means the least important feature of the evening. Reservation for dinner places should be made early through Mrs. S. E. Davenport, Jr., Groton Street. All members and friends of the church are urged to make definite plans to be present at this important meeting. There will be no solicitation of funds for the Community House or other objects.

On Dec. 26 Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Perry celebrated the golden anniversary of their wedding. A large group of their friends tendered them a reception in the social room during the late afternoon. On behalf of these friends and others who were unable to be present, A. H. Flint presented to Mr. and Mrs. Perry a purse of gold as a slight token of the esteem in which they are held.

Dr. Latshaw was the speaker at the regular meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society last Sunday evening. It has been a great pleasure to welcome back so many of our "away to college" members during the holidays.

Dr. Burton's message last Sunday morning was greatly enjoyed. His concrete presentation of the obligations and opportunities of the church at home and abroad was most instructive and inspiring.

Will you kindly arrange to be "at home" tomorrow afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. "Every-Member-and-Friend" of the church!

W. P. McC.

ST. LUKE'S

The Christmas festivities of St. Luke's started with the midnight celebration of the Holy Communion on Christmas Eve. There was a large attendance with the Rev. Mr. Walker of Elizabeth, New Jersey, officiating. Mrs. George C. LeBlanc played the organ for the singing of the carols. The musical service of Dec. 26 was a treat and greatly appreciated by all.

Much credit is due Mrs. Edward Moir for her skillful work in training the children for their Christmas play, entitled, "Mother Goose' Christmas" which was given on Dec. 28. Ruth Davies was "Mrs. Santa Claus" and Dickey Millar was "Mother Goose." When "Mother Goose" waved her wand, "Red Riding Hood," "Old Mother Hubbard" and many more of her family came forward and each sang a song. Charles B. Nelcamp was the "Santa Claus," who brought each child a box of candy and an orange. Many gifts were brought by the children to be given to the poor.

The Woman's Guild held its monthly meeting at the home of Miss Courtney, 16 Cranford Street, on Jan. 7, in the afternoon.

During the remainder of Jan. the Rev. J. H. Feringa will have charge of the services.

A PILGRIM PAGEANT

Three hundred of the Richmond Hill High School scholars gave a most inspiring and instructive pageant in honor of the Pilgrim Tercentenary on December 21, 22 and 23. There are a number of young people from the Gardens who attend this High School and four of them took part in the program, which showed the splendid training of the teachers. Arthur H. Flint, on the faculty of the school, deserves much credit for artistic costuming and scenery of the pageant. Janet Perry was one of the dancing Harvesters, Maurice Mayer was an English boy Tyler Sweeney was a dancing Holland boy and Allen Smart was an English gentleman.

FOR A CLEANER VILLAGE

Women's Club Endorses Work of Civic Committee—Everyone Encouraged to Help.

The Women's Club has endorsed the resolution of its civic committee, which proposes to make the village "cleaner." Garbage cans, ash cans, and all stray papers are to be taboo in Forest Hills in the future. All residents are urged to carry these receptacles into the house from the curb as soon as they have been emptied. The civic committee observes—"Why are people so careless in leaving waste papers out for collection? The papers are often so loosely placed in the bags that, as the garbage man empties the bags into his cart a puff of wind comes and away fly the papers over the scenery to catch in the hedges and vacant lots."

The committee proposes to zone the district, appointing a captain and lieutenant in charge of each zone, and a prize will be given to that zone or section each year which is kept in the best order. Special attention will be given to the early removal, from the curb after they have been emptied, of the ash cans and garbage pails, and to the bundling of papers, according to the directions of the Department of Health of the City of New York, and to the vacant lots which are kept in the neatest order.

The city has made excellent ordinances for the regulation of storekeepers, especially those dealing in food stuffs. The civic committee plans to give a prize to the storekeeper who, throughout the year, keeps his premises and sidewalk in the best order, and who most fully complies with the city ordinances.

Attention is called to the ornamental rubbish receptacles which have been installed over the major portion of the village. Those wishing to dispose of newspapers and other rubbish they may be carrying, should use these receptacles.

The plans and work of the civic committee were heartily endorsed by the Women's Club at its January meeting. Mrs. Louis D. Speir is chairman of this committee.
