New Bank Building in Forest Hills

Corn Exchange Bank to Open New Home on January 15—Every Convenience and Safety for Residents in Doing Their Banking Business

THE Forest Hills Branch of the Corn Exchange Bank of New York will move into its new home on or about Jan. 15. The Corn Exchange Bank was organized Feb. 2, 1853, with a capital stock of $500,000, at 13 William Street, corner of Beaver, and the main office is still on this spot. In August of that year, the capital stock and surplus were increased to $914,000. The expansion of capital and earnings has been rapid, keeping pace with the steady growth of the city and country, until today the capital and surplus have reached $20,000,000.

In March, 1899, the bank began its policy of establishing branches in other localities throughout the city, to serve more conveniently its growing number of customers. This action met wonderful response from the public, more people coming to the bank as it spread its activities into their immediate neighborhoods, and now there are over 136,000 depositors and accounts on the ledgers—nearly 1,000 accounts in the Forest Hills Branch. Many of the branches handle a greater volume of business than the main office of some large first-class banks. Today there are fifty-one branches, in addition to the home office. In recent years the bank has adopted the practice of owning or erecting its own buildings to house the branch quarters.

The Forest Hills Branch was opened Jan. 3, 1922, and while not the latest branch started (the bank has established four new branches since January, 1922), the bank soon recognized the qualities of this community, and at an early date acquired the very desirable plot on the corner of Continental Avenue and Austin Street, 25 by 100 feet, which belonged to the Long Island Railroad and was a part of its station grounds. A handsome bank building has been erected from plans drawn by Fellheimer & Wagner, associate architects, who designed such well-known public buildings in Long Island as the Hempstead Town House and the Nassau County Tuberculosis Sanitarium, also the Hirschberg residence in Forest Hills, and who are handling at the present time several of the largest railway passenger terminal developments in the United States. The architecture conforms to the design of the railroad station adjoining, the most beautiful one on the entire system, and matches the type of construction throughout the Gardens which has made this section a place of unique beauty. The illustration in this issue of the BULLETIN gives an idea of the appearance of the bank building and is made from a colored drawing furnished by the architects.

The equipment of the local office is complete for all banking and fiduciary functions. Special provision has been made for the convenience of ladies, a room with attendant facilities being provided for their exclusive use in connection with the transaction of their banking requirements. The plant includes modern and adequate safety deposit vaults, and the services to be rendered embrace business and personal accounts, foreign letters of credit, and all departments of trust functions.

Walter E. Frew is president of the Corn Exchange Bank, Frederick T. Martin is one of the vice-presidents, and the local manager is E. L. DeForest. The officers are determined that the bank shall grow in size and importance with the community.

CHORAL CLUB ACTIVITIES

Dr. Frank E. Miller, founder of vocal art science, will give a stereopticon lecture Tuesday evening, Jan. 9, at 8:15 o'clock, in the Church-in-the-Gardens, under the auspices of the Forest Hills Choral Club. The club extends an invitation to the entire community to attend this lecture. Dr. Miller is an authority on the voice, its development and the natural method of tone production based on scientific laws. Miss Suzanne Zimmerman, soprano, will assist Dr. Miller.

The Choral Club will resume rehearsals on Tuesday evening, Jan. 16, and they will be held every Tuesday evening following that date. The singers will begin to study the selections which will be sung at the spring concert. All who desire to join, either as active or associate members, for the remainder of the season, should communicate with Mrs. Charles H. Scammell, president, and special rates will be arranged.

THE GREATEST NEED OF FOREST HILLS

SINCE there is Public School 3 in Forest Hills, and because we are assured of a public school building in the Gardens, and the machinery is in the initial stages to secure a public library here, why not make a united appeal to the public authorities to plan a centrally located high school for Forest Hills and Kew Gardens? The boys and girls of this village are attending the crowded high schools of Newtown, Jamaica and Richmond Hill. They also attend a number of different high schools, privately conducted, here, on Manhattan and at Garden City, and a number of students are away at boarding schools. What would it mean in intimate friendships, in team work in athletics, debates, dramatics, and the many other activities of the regular high school course if all the young people here had a chance to attend one good high school near home?

As it is now, there is such a diversity of interests and such a scattering of friendships in the 'teen age of boys and girls that they hardly know each other, and they are missing much of the richness of life which their parents enjoyed in other places. The Community House will furnish a meeting place for recreation and athletics, but the common high school is needed. We pay enough taxes here to deserve it. Why not start to work for it and get it?

RADIO PRESENTED TO JUDGE MOORE

Some of the friends of Judge Charles F. Moore presented him a fine radio outfit for Christmas. The Judge is confined to his room and finds the radio gift a constant source of pleasure. The outfit was installed by F. A. Dede of Forest Hills, who had orders for a number of installations in this village during the last few days. The programs of the nearby stations are heard perfectly in a loud speaker and with a head set one can get the far-distant stations with ease.

BILL AT MOVING PICTURE THEATRE

The management of the Forest Hills Theatre announces the following attractions: For today, Jan. 6, Shirley Mason in "Shirley of the Circus"; Sunday and Monday, Jan. 7 and 8, Mary Pickford in "Tess of the Storm Country"; Tuesday and Wednesday Jan. 9 and 10, Bert Lytell and Betty Compson in "To Have and to Hold"; and Thursday and Friday, Jan. 11 and 12, Jackie Coogan in "Oliver Twist."

MASONS HOLD NEW YEAR'S EVE DANCE

The caberet supper and dance held by the Masons in the Temple on Saturday night, Dec. 30, proved to be one of the finest events of the season. Henry Hirschberg and Charles Bierbauer had spared neither time, effort nor expense in providing such entertainment and refreshment as would fittingly close the old year and greet the new.

ENTERTAIN FOR COUNT ILYA TOLSTOY

Dr. and Mrs. Eugene Christian, 55 Bow Street, entertained a few friends at dinner on Jan. 1 to meet Count Ilya Tolstoy, the son of Count Leo Tolstoy. Later in the evening other guests came in to meet the guest of honor. Count Tolstoy reminisced about his father and his own life in Russia. He is going on a trip west and later will go to Florida.

THE INN

The first annual dinner of the Medical Society of the County of Queens was held at the Inn on Dec. 18. The ball room, sun parlor, blue room and lounge were utilized for the occasion, the attendance being 300. Interesting speeches were made by Hon. Royal S. Copeland, M.D., United States Senator-elect; William C. Woodward, M.D., of Chicago, executive secretary of the Legislative Bureau of the American Medical Association; Arthur W. Booth, M.D., president of the Medical Society of the State of New York; Hon. Maurice E. Conolly, president of the Borough of Queens; Warren Coleman, M.D., of New York City, and Hon. Frank Giorgio, State Senator-elect.

Mrs. Frederick W. Kiendl, of 60 Greenway Terraces, the Gardens, gave a dinner party to ten of her friends in the sun parlor on Saturday, Dec. 23. After dinner dancing was enjoyed.

The sun parlor on Saturday evening, Dec. 30, was the scene of three dinner parties, one given by Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bohst; one by Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Jackson to their granddaughter, Miss Ellen Robinson, and five of her friends, and one by Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Hopping.

The New Year's Eve celebration was well attended. Over 275 guests enjoyed the supper de luxe, dancing and the fun making, which started at midnight, Sunday, Dec. 31. Among the recent arrivals are: George Castleman, home visiting his parents from Silver Bay School; J. B. Johnson, from Bordentown Military School, also visiting his parents during the Christmas holidays; Miss Gertrude Brown, Denver, Colo., Westover School, who is visiting her mother; George M. F. Williams, from St. Johns School, visiting his parents; H. L. Hopping, from Annapolis, Ind.; J. F. Brown, from Yale College, also spending the holidays with their parents.

Mrs. Jessie Burke, of London; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Newcombe and little daughter, of Manhattan, also their son, George Newcombe; C. W. Burdick, of Cheyenne, Wyo.; Miss Katherine L. Murphy, sister of Mrs. J. P. Downs; J. B. Doerr, of Milwaukee; Miss M. H. Chase, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Miss Mary F. Pearson, of Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. David Chidlow, of Ridgefield, Conn., and Major G. T. Hewlett, of New Haven.

Mrs. Henry S. Susmann has returned after a visit of several weeks to her home in Kansas City. Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Jewett have also returned after a trip to California.

WOMEN'S CLUB

At the meeting of the Women's Club held on Jan. 3, at the Inn, Stark Young, dramatic critic of the New Republic, spoke at length in an interesting, highly critical way on "The Art of the Theatre." He was introduced by Mrs. Phanor J. Eden, chairman of the current readings chapter of the club. Due to the extreme pressure for space in this number of the BULLETIN, there is no room for a full report of this lecture.

Mrs. Louis D. Speir and Mrs. Robert C. Adams were elected delegates, and Mrs. Anna C. Boyd and Mrs. George H. Merrill alternates, to the Long Island Council of Women's Clubs, to be held in Brooklyn on Jan. 19.

The zone prize will be re-awarded the last of January. Chaperones for the Saturday afternoon performances of the Forest Hills Theatre are needed. Names should be given to Mrs. E. D. Sealy.

Mrs. Richard Chapman, president of the New York City Federation of Women's Clubs, spoke briefly to the club. Mrs. Charles Decker, Mrs. David Thompson and Mrs. William Whitaker, also officers of the Federation, were present.

New members of the club are: Mrs. C. C. Carstens, Mrs. G. L. C. Earle, Mrs. Lucy W. Fiske, Mrs. George Floyd, Mrs. F. A. Hanna, Mrs. Harold Henderson, Mrs. Willard Patterson, Mrs. George Van Slyck and Mrs. Russell R. Whitman.

The next meeting of the current readings chapter will be held on Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 16, at the home of Mrs. Edward H. Mays, 175 Slocum Crescent, with Mrs. Albert M. Gray assisting. "Batauala," by Rene Maran, will be reviewed by Mrs. Robert C. Adams; "Carter," by Don Marquis, will be reviewed by Mrs. Lydia M. Small, and Claude McKay's "Poems" will be read and reviewed by Mrs. John A. McFarlan.

On Tuesday, Jan. 30, at 2:30 p. m., the current readings chapter will meet with Miss Lilian Rice, 120 Puritan Avenue, when Mrs. S. Ellsworth Davenport, Jr., will review "The Life and Letters of Walter H. Page," by Burton J. Hendrick. Miss Rose Terry will be assistant hostess.

CHRISTMAS EVE CELEBRATION SUCCESSFUL

Gardens Residents Heartily Support It—Gifts Are Brought for the Less Fortunate.

With mild weather which was most favorable to the celebration, and with greater community interest in it than ever before, this year's Christmas Eve festivities in the Gardens were most successfully carried through. The pageant of floats, carol singers, torch bearers and Santa Claus presented a lovelier picture than ever. The program of music, given in the Station Square by members of the Forest Hills Choral Club, was a delight to the crowd that filled the square. Many newcomers to the Gardens and visitors for the day were particularly enthusiastic over the charm and beauty of the evening's entertainment. For the responsibility of the musical program the committee extends thanks to Mrs. Charles H. Scammell.

After the program, all who took part were entertained at the Gardens Tea Room, where coffee and sandwiches, furnished by Guyon L. C. Earle, were served.

The gifts which were distributed by Santa Claus to the Gardens children were welcome, as usual, and the boys who received fine pocket knives were particularly happy. The knives—two dozen of them—were donated by E. Fuller, of the New York Knife Company. The toys were purchased for the committee by Mrs. G. W. Cunningham, and prepared by her and Mrs. L. P. McGabie for distribution.

Gifts for Unfortunate Children.

The response to the appeal that the children of the Gardens send gifts to less fortunate children of Queens was so genuine and so generous that the committee was busy all of Christmas afternoon distributing the beautifully wrapped up packages of clothing, books and toys to the needy of Queens. There were over 300 packages. More than three automobile loads of gifts were taken from Forest Hills homes to brighten the lives of other children. Two loads went to the Jamaica Day Nursery; one load to the Big Sisters of Queens Borough; one large bag full to the philanthropies of the policemen, and one bag to a charity organization of colored people. The sum of $58.71 was also donated, and the Executive Committee of the Celebrations Association of Forest Hills Gardens will vote soon as to where it should be given to do the most good. In the distribution of the gifts, Mrs. George Smart, chairman of this part of the celebration, is greatly indebted to Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Cunningham, Mrs. Augustine J. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Louis D. Speir, and Mrs. G. H. Dorr. F. B. Colton and C. W. Berry deserve the credit for constructing the chimney which received the gifts. C. P. Gronbeck and Muller Bros. have been helpful in cartage.

The treasurer, T. J. Mitchell, 81 Puritan Avenue, and all of the captains have worked hard to secure contributions from every family in the Gardens. All who have not contributed will assist the work by mailing checks to the treasurer. The list of contributors will be published in the next issue of the BULLETIN.

There has been a general giving in the Apartments, due to the efforts of G. W. Cunningham.

WHAT THE TOWNSPEOPLE ARE DOING

The holiday reunion of Camp Allegro girls, from Philadelphia, New York and vicinity, was held Saturday, Dec. 28, at the home of the director, Mrs. Blanche Carstens, Gardens Apartment. Refreshments were served in the Gardens Tea Room.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Barrett, 100 Puritan Avenue, spent Christmas with the family of their son, Theodore Barrett, Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Midgley and son, 102 Ascan Avenue, spent Christmas with Mrs. Midgley's mother in Boston.

Mrs. Mae Savell Croy is recovering from a most severe illness in Flushing Hospital. Homer Croy, the novelist, is expecting that his wife and new baby will be home soon.

Many of the young people home for the holidays from college and preparatory school were listed in last week's BULLETIN. The following are additional names: Richard Clinchey, University of Pennsylvania; Harold Treu, Cornell; John Montague, University of Virginia; Wallace Drummond, Wesleyan University, and Charles Robbins, Princeton. These and the twenty others listed in the last BULLETIN have returned to their studies.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Knowles have sold their house on Burns Street and have moved into the Tennis Place Apartments. They contemplate building a new house on Deepdene Road, where they will make their home.

TRAVELOGUES

Three Members of the Men's Club Tell of Their Experiences in Europe.

The December meeting of the Men's Club was held at the hospitable home of Alden H. Vose, 97 Continental Avenue, Forest Hills, Friday evening, Dec. 29, when the club again demonstrated its ability to give a delightful and profitable program with its own talent. Three of its officers—Lyman Beecher Stowe, president; Harold P. Daniels, treasurer, and Richard Knight, secretary—contributed highly entertaining accounts of recent sojourns in Europe.

Mr. Daniels spoke first and gave in a very happy way the impressions of a trip which included England, France and Italy. As a devoted lover of birds, he was particularly impressed by the bird life which was in evidence at all times on the trip across the ocean. He spoke also of the beauty of Devonshire, especially of its flowers. He referred briefly to some of the great cathedrals, including Westminster; to the Basques of France, whom he considered a very high-grade people; to the vineyards of Italy, and to many attractive features of Florence, Venice and Verona. Well-told anecdotes enlivened the narration.

Mr. Knight told of his travels in England and Scotland, referring particularly to economic and business conditions. He said that the economical living of the people is in rather striking contrast with the freedom with which money is expended in this country. He cited the small number of motor cars and the limited number of telephones in homes as evidences of curtailment of expenditures. He referred to the labor situation and to manufacturing conditions, saying that they are far from satisfactory. Manufacturers are, almost without exception, selling at below costs.

Outstanding features of Mr. Stowe's story of his trip included a fascinating account of a week-end sojourn of Mr. and Mrs. Stowe at the wonderfully interesting castle of Lord Sandwich, which included participation in a pheasant hunting party; a visit to the historic John Harvard home, which has been saved from improper use by Americans, who presented it to Harvard University; an account of a visit to Paderewski at his home in Switzerland and a description of the present condition of the devastated regions of France.

Mr. Stowe spoke at some length of attending a clinic of Emile Coue, and also of the personal audience he had with the distinguished master of autosuggestion. People come to Dr. Coue in the manner the halt and the blind came to Jesus.

Don Marquis, George H. Boyce, Arthur Penn and J. H. Cassidy were elected members.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Henry Hirschberg, the last Friday in January, and Don Marquis will be the speaker of the evening.

CHRISTMAS DAY ENTERTAINMENT

Public School 3 Filled with Happy Families of Forest Hills Association.

The auditorium of Public School 3 was filled on Christmas afternoon by interested parents, friends and children to enjoy the program that had been prepared by the officers of the Forest Hills Association. Various reels were thrown on the screen, and especial interest was shown in the reel taken of the Fourth of July celebration. The special entertainer, a magician from the Keith vaudeville circuit, proved to be the most attractive event of the afternoon to the children. The magician was highly amused at the demands of the youngsters that he reveal what he had up his sleeve, etc. Santa Claus distributed beautiful gifts to the children, according to their ages. The candy left over, a goodly supply, was taken to the Correction School for Boys, on Flushing Avenue.

SEWER IN WHITSON STREET

The contract has been let by the Forest Hills Gardens Homes Company for the construction of a standard 12-inch sewer in Whitson Street, to connect with the twenty-four houses the company is building on either side of the block between Ascan and Puritan Avenues, and nine houses which have been started on Ascan Avenue between Ingram and Whitson Streets.

This company has also made arrangements to purchase a quantity of special lamp posts, exactly like those used heretofore in Forest Hills Gardens. The recently organized Gardens Corporation will also use some of these lamp posts in replacing those that have been broken in the Gardens.

THE CHURCH IN THE GARDENS

The feature of the Christmas exercises of the Church School on Dec. 24 was a pageant in costume entitled "The Messenger." This presentation by thirty children, with Virginia Clymer in the leading role, was followed eagerly by the appreciative parents, boys and girls. As has been the custom in other years, the Church School children brought carefully wrapped and marked gifts for less fortunate little folks. The gifts were sent to the Brooklyn Children's Aid Society, from the assistant director of which has been received a most enthusiastic letter of thanks because of the kind of gifts and the care with which they were wrapped. The letter closed with the sentence: "Putting it briefly, I would say that in every respect your effort was exceptional."

Tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock the Rev. Alfred C. Church, of the Tompkins Avenue Congregational Church, of Brooklyn, will preach. The following Sunday the preacher will be Dr. Chester B. Emerson, of Detroit. Mrs. Carl Ruggles, of New York, will enrich the services with her contralto voice.

On Jan. 10, at 7 p. m., there will be held the annual dinner and meeting of the corporate body of the Church-in-the-Gardens. Tickets for the dinner must be obtained in advance, from Mrs. J. Gorton Marsh, chairman of the social committee of the Women's Guild. Annual reports will be given and the election of officers will be held.

The annual meeting of the Women's Guild for the election of officers will be held at 2 p. m. Jan. 12, at the home of Mrs. Neils F. Holch, 125 Ascan Avenue.

THREE RESIDENTS DIE

Wesley Wilson Crawford, for a long time a resident of the Inn, died at the Inn on Dec. 23. Funeral services were held on Tuesday, Dec. 26, at the chapel of Harry Pyle, Church and Ocean Avenues, Brooklyn. Mr. Crawford is survived by his wife, Clara Craig Crawford, and a daughter, Mrs. Mildred Crawford Tyrrel. James Saulpaugh, A. Alfred Renshaw, Charles Richards and Rev. Albert Sheppard, representing the Forest Hills Lodge of F. & A. M., attended the funeral service.

William Reuderman, of Overhill Road, was found dead in bed by his wife on Tuesday morning, Dec. 26. Mr. Reuderman retired the night before in good health, and it is believed that apoplexy was the cause of death. He was a retired piano maker.

Joseph M. Low passed away at his home, 67 Burns Street, Dec. 20, after several months' illness. Mr. Low had been a resident of Forest Hills since 1912. He retired from active business about a year ago. He is survived by his wife, Lucy A., and one brother, Alfred M., of Detroit, Mich.

APPEAL FOR LIBRARY SITE

On Thursday, Dec. 21, a delegation of Forest Hills people met Borough President Connolly and asked for his help in securing a site for a public library from the Board of Estimate and Apportionment. Mr. Connolly not only consented to help, but offered to present the resolution to the board and in every way to encourage favorable action. Mr. Connolly is devoted to the best interests of Queens, and says that a site for a library building ought to be secured for Forest Hills at once.

The Community Council, Forest Hills Association, Women's Club, Men's Club, the two Mothers' clubs all are supporting this resolution to secure a library site. Those who met with the Borough President were Mrs. Lawrence F. Abbott the Rev. Albert Sheppard and Mrs. George Smart, chairman.

CONSTANCE SHOPPE OPENED

The Constance Shoppe has been opened in the Forest Hills Theatre Building, by Clara C. Schulz and Mary A. Schulz, formerly of New York. Gowns, wraps and hats will be designed, and there will be exclusive lingerie and negligee.

FOUND—Boy's watch. Apply to H. W. Smith, Post Office.

THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Services in the Presbyterian Church are as follows: 10 a. m. Sunday-School; 11 a. m., public worship and the administration of the sacrament of the Lord's supper. Evening lecture hour is at 8 p. m. The minister, Rev. Albert Sheppard, tomorrow night will review "Birthright," by T. S. Stribling. The theme of the book has to do with the attempt of an educated negro to bring some of his education to the service of his home niggertown, and his experiences therein. The last paragraph but one in the book reads: "Here Peter Siner made the amazing discovery that although he had spent four years in Harvard, he had come out just as he went in—a negro." This is a book worth while, and so it is well worth hearing reviewed.

The Christmas entertainment of the Sabbath School of the Presbyterian Church drew a large audience to hear the program prepared by the school, on Wednesday evening, Dec. 27. Pins and bars were distributed to many children for regular attendance during the year past. At least two in the Sabbath School have an unbroken record for eight years, and a number have a record for seven years. Then Santa Claus came to distribute his gifts and to wish them all a goodbye until next year.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnson, of Euclid Street, presented a McShane bell to the Presbyterian Church, Forest Hills, in memory of Mrs. Johnson's parents, late of Bishopstone, England. The bell has been installed, and its beautiful tones rang out the old year and welcomed in the new.
