MEN'S CLUB

South America the Subject of Discussion at November Meeting

President Lawrence F. Abbott's Hospital Home Thrown Open to Members and Guests—Other Plans Made for the Winter's Activities

The hospitable home of the president of the Men's Club was filled on the evening of Nov. 15 by the members and guests who came to enjoy the first meeting under the new administration and interest in the program was so intense that the hour was late when President Lawrence F. Abbott got an opportunity to remark: "Now if you will fold your chairs and stroll into the dining room, you will see an exemplification of the results of the high cost of living and the eighteenth amendment." If we grant that modern conditions were responsible for the enjoyable period at the close of the evening, certainly no one could complain of those conditions.

Early in the evening, the club decided to co-operate with the Women's Club, if it should be decided to be advisable to give a series of entertainments for the benefit of the Community House and it was also voted to invite the ladies to attend the lecture which Frederic W. Goudy will give under the auspices of the club of Monday evening, Feb. 21, on "How the World Learned Its A. B. Cs."

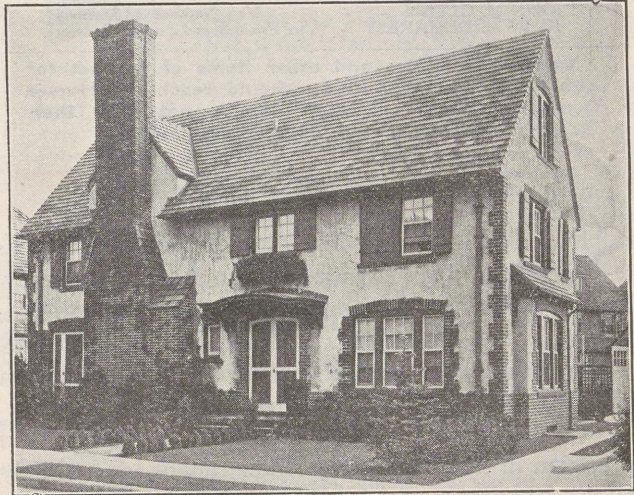

The speakers of the evening were Frederick K. Seward of Forest Hills and his law partner, B. S. Van Rensselaer, who spoke on conditions in South America with special reference to the commerce of the United States with Brazil and Argentina. Mr. Seward gave a very interesting account of a trip which he made to those countries last winter and also reviewed their history. Mr. Van Rensselaer, who has lived for a number of years in South America, spoke of the possibility of enlarging our trade with Brazil and Argentina and told some of the reasons which had prevented this country from doing a larger business with them. He dwelt particularly upon the inadequate salaries paid to American consuls in South America, which made it impossible to keep in the employment of the government men of experience and ability. The crowning act in the crippling of the consular service was performed at the last session of Congress which so reduced the compensation of consuls that some of them found themselves in debt to the government on account of their being required to pay back certain allowances. The speaker was asked many questions which he answered fully.

SINGERS FOR CHRISTMAS EVE

Let every man and woman who can and will sing on Christmas Eve report at once to Mrs. Charles H. Scammell, Boulevard 6247-J, so that she may plan now for the rehearsals. The last few rehearsals will be in the hands of Bruno Huhn, a famous leader of glee clubs, who trained the community chorus for July Fourth, but the responsibility of the preliminary training for Christmas Eve will fall upon Mrs. Scammell. Rehearsals will be held every Sunday afternoon in December, until Christmas, at 3 o'clock, in the Church-in-the-Gardens.

RED CROSS SEALS

In the sale of Red Cross seals, Queens is separated this year from Manhattan and is trying to make a record. In Forest Hills the seals will be on sale at the drug stores and at the stationery store. This town will not fall behind its splendid record of other years.

THE HOME OF GEORGE E. BARNES

Adapted from English precedents is the attractive home of George E. Barnes, on Winter Street near Ascan Avenue. The massive brick chimney on the front forms an unusual departure from the conventionally planned house, but adds much to the architectural effect. The Homes Company was the architect and builder.

WOMEN'S CLUB

Entertainment Will Be Held at Hotel Pennsylvania on Dec. 1—The Club's Calendar for December.

Song recitals by the Misses Mildred and Marjorie Freeman and Graham McNamee will comprise a most delightful program, which the ways and means committee of the Women's Club, Mrs. Curtis E. Kloetzer, chairman, is planning for the evening of Dec. 1 in the Hotel Pennsylvania. The musical program will be followed by dancing with a splendid orchestra for the dance program. The tickets are being sold at the three drug stores and they also may be bought from Mrs. Kloetzer 25 Tennis Place Apartments. The price of the tickets is $2.50 each. The returns go sixty per cent. to the Community House, twenty-five per cent. to the philanthropic chapter, and fifteen per cent. to the club treasury.

December Meeting

Bird S. Coler, commissioner of the public welfare, will speak on the work of his department at the meeting of the club on the afternoon of Dec. 6 at the Inn. Arthur Hadley, tenor, with Grover Tilden Davis, accompanist, will sing several songs.

Work of Chapters

The current readings chapter will meet at 2:30 P. M. on Nov. 30, at the home of Mrs. Thurlow M. Gordon, 84 Puritan Avenue, when Mrs. E. H. Mays will review "May Oliver" by May Sinclair. The same chapter will meet at the home of Mrs. William P. Beazell, 255 Greenway South, on the afternoon of Dec. 14, at 2:30 o'clock, when Mrs. William E. Woodard will review "Main Street" by Sinclair Lewis.

The new current events chapter, inaugurated by Mrs. Lyman Beecher Stowe, at her home on Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 23, heard Charlotte Perkins Gilman speak. Mrs. Gimán urged the women to be more socially minded and to see things in their broad human relations. She said that such a chapter might study the health or the educational problems of the country. Sometime in January, and not on Dec. 7, as announced, will be the next meeting of the current events chapter.

The philanthropic and the music chapters will not meet in December.

TESTS OF AN EDUCATED MAN

SIX traits distinguish an educated man from an uneducated one, according to Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, speaking recently in the gymnasium assembly. The BULLETIN would commend these traits as a criterion of education not only for men but also for women.

"The first trait," said Dr. Butler, "is correctness and precision in the use of the mother tongue, gained only by the association with good English." We wish every growing boy or girl, who has the opportunity to acquaint himself or herself with the best in our literature, would appreciate the importance of doing so. Not only the English one uses is an index of education but the inflection and modulation of the speaking voice betray the culture. Would that the American speaking voice could be refined! "The second" continued Dr. Butler, "is noted by those refined and gentle manners which are the expression of fixed habits of thought and conduct."

Sound standards of feeling and appreciation he ranked third in the list, with the power of reflection next and the power of growth fifth. These are important, but we pass them over quickly to give more space to the sixth trait.

"The ability to do efficiently, without nervous agitation is the rarest of the six traits of an educated man," concluded Dr. Butler. We are living in a fast day, near a great metropolitan center, called upon for all sorts of activities not only in our own busy community but in the various avenues of activity in Manhattan. We need poise, self control, clearly defined purposes and strong character, in order not to be running around aimlessly in a state of nervous agitation. You know people whose lives are so spent. The world needs efficient service, in this day of unsettled conditions and it needs this service rendered by people who can do the task assigned to them without nervous agitation. Nervous excitement is contagious, but the encouraging thing is the fact that self control is also contagious and the people who have the latter will be leaders in these great days of reconstruction. Is it not splendid that President Butler puts the emphasis not upon academic instruction, important as that is for the foundation of an education man, but rather he points out the need of those qualities of character, feeling, power of reflection, power of growth and self control in rendering service, as the real tests of the trained man?

THE GARDENS PLAYERS

First Subscription Performance Receives Deserved Applause

Excellence of stage-settings, well-chosen plays and spontaneity of acting, marked a signally good performance of the Gardens Players, given at Kew Country Club on Nov. 22 and 23. The same bill will be reproduced in Jamaica, at Grace Church Guild Hall under the auspices of The Barnstormers, this evening.

"Where but in America," cleverly produced by Jewel Aldrich, swept the audience into the mood of enjoyment that held them throughout the evening. Ruth Swazey and James Cassell gave a well-acted and engaging vignette of a cook-ridden American household, while Charlotte Packard as Hilda, was the personification of Swedish daintiness.

"Fifty-Fifty," produced by Bertha Mandell with alluring mystery of setting, is a spirited farce in which Maida Birmingham and Erik Huneker shared honors as would-be worldlings. Both accomplished actors, they portrayed appealingly the horrors of their hidden blameless past rising to confront them. Beth Cason as "Ellen," brought a small part into amusing relief. Gladys Hall (Mrs. Russell Ball), co-author of "Fifty-Fifty" has recently moved to Forest Hills.

"The Storm," a poetic play by John Drinkwater, was produced by Bertha Mandell and Harvey Warren in its American "Premiere." Bertha Mandell as the wife whose husband is lost in the Welsh hills will be long remembered. The dramatic force and beauty of her voice and the strong feeling she portrayed, carried her audience with her, and made the woman's tragedy acutely real. Lolita Cordon interpreted sympathetically and convincingly, an aged neighbor, while Hildegard Diechmann was an appealing younger sister. Harvey Warren, a picturesque "Stranger," added a vivid bit of life to the shadowed cottage, for which the quaint setting was beautifully painted by Anna Price and Robert Tappan. Crispia Bebb as an "Old Man" caused a well-defined interlude in the tenseness of the waiting household.

"The Wonder-Hat" was whimsically produced by Walter Hartwig, the exquisite scenery showing the artistry of Walter Teague. Helen Smith, making her debut in the Gardens Players as "Columbine," was as lovely as a French fairy. "Margot" was played with spirit and a green wig by Marjorie Wilson, balancing emotional "Columbine" and interrupting the wooing of bewitched "Pierrot," well-acted by Irving Hare. As "Harlequin," Edward Swazey gave a clever and amusing illusion of invisibility, and "Punchinello" created by Walter Claypoole, was excellent character work.

The Gardens Players Orchestra was a new feature, and the music interpreted by Frances Moir, Hazel Miller, Aubrey Bebb and Edward Packard was received with warm appreciation.

An Observer.

DAVID STEWART KENDRICK

The youngest child of Professor and Mrs. B. B. Kendrick, David Stewart Kendrick, died in the early morning of Nov. 21 1920. The services were held at the home, 205 Puritan Avenue, on the afternoon of Nov. 22 at three o'clock, with Dr. David Latshaw, pastor of the Church-in-the-Gardens in charge of them. Mrs. R. P. Kaighn sang.

The little lad was born Jan. 28, 1920 and was recently baptised by Dr. Latshaw in the Church-in-the-Gardens, of which his parents are members. The friends of Professor and Mrs. Kendrick are filled with sympathy for them in this touching sorrow.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Mathews and family of Philadelphia are spending a short Thanksgiving vacation with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tappan, Whitson Street. Mrs. Mathews and Mrs. Tappan are sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. William Patterson and Mrs. Patterson's sister, Miss Rose Terry, have recently bought and moved into the house at 25 Wendover Road. They have lived a number of years in England near London.

Miss Charlotte Orgies, Burns Street, is visiting friends in Pittsburgh.

The family of Dr. F. R. Getz, Olive Place, spent Thanksgiving in Wilmington, Delaware.

COMMUNITY COUNCIL

S. W. Eckman Is Very Entertaining on European Conditions—Many Matters of Community Interest Considered.

At the regular meeting of the Community Council, which took place on the evening of Nov. 19 in the Social Room of the Church-in-the-Gardens, Thomas B. Paton, Jr., vice-president and chairman of a committee on nuisances, made a detailed report on the number of burglaries that have taken place in the last two and one-half years. There have been seventy-two burglaries and a number of attempts in that time. Mr. Paton has completely canvassed the situation and has been working for more police protection. As the result of his agitation, three things were reported: (1) four policemen are on duty in Forest Hills all the time; (2) a booth will be placed on the Boulevard, near Continental Avenue, and, (3) telephone signal stations will be placed at opposite ends of the town.

Mr. Paton has also taken up the question of the odor which comes from the dump in Flushing meadows. Eventually the meadows will be filled and that will do away with the mosquitoes. The Chamber of Commerce of Queens says that the dumps are being sprinkled. Three hundred letters of complaint have reached the Community Council about this question and the committee is continued to see what can be done about it.

The meeting passed a resolution to urge the resumption of the trolley service on Metropolitan Avenue.

S. W. Eckman, who spent last summer in Europe, spoke most entertainingly of the conditions there. He said that England shows the effects of the war. The drunkenness in Glasgow and Liverpool is most distressing. In Denmark there is a coal shortage. In Germany many lights are out and the people are very much undernourished. The speaker paid a fine tribute to the excellent condition of the American soldiers in the zone of occupation. Those soldiers make a splendid appearance and their moral condition is very fine. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Augustine J. Wilson is in a responsible position with the army there and escorted Mr. and Mrs. Eckman around. Paris shows little signs of the war, but the devastated regions show the struggle through which France passed, although those regions are being repaired. Ypres will never be improved; it is to stand as a monument of the war. Belgium is advancing fast, and Holland is in good condition. Mr. Eckman flew from Brussels to London in an airplane.

BOY SCOUTS BUSY

Troop 2 is busily engaged with its fall program holding meetings every Friday evening in the Social Room of the Church-in-the-Gardens. Although several of the older Scouts have had to resign from the troop, the ranks have been filled by new recruits. Charles Earle, Philip Attardo and Baldwin Vose have passed their Tenderfoot test and have been enrolled in the troop. Second Class Scout Leon Schoen has passed his tests for First Class Scout and is soon to appear before the Court of Honor. Tenderfoot Harold Renshaw has advanced to Second Class Scout and was awarded his insignia at Camp Matinecock, the Scout camp, this summer.

On Saturday, Nov. 13, W. P. McCulloch took the troop for a visit of inspection through the Sunshine Biscuit factory in Long Island City.

On Saturday, Nov. 20, the troop had a swim in the tank of the Brooklyn Y. M. C. A. through the kindness of E. H. Mays.

LEGION NOTES

The post bowling team is rapidly rounding into shape. Two alleys have been engaged for every Thursday evening. All members desiring to bowl should meet at the stationery store at 7:45 o'clock Thursday evenings, or call up Chauncey Nichos, Portsmouth Place, or details.

On Friday, Nov. 26, the post minstrels started rehearsals at the Seminole Avenue Club.

The annual meeting for election of officers will be held at the Seminole Avenue Club on Monday evening, Dec. 13. There will be eats and the post jazz band, than which there is no better, will perform. Everybody come.

The following announcement comes to the BULLETIN: Soprano soloist will sing at clubs, teas, funerals and weddings. For particulars telephone 97-W Richmond Hill.

THE INN

A most attractive and enjoyable dinner party was given on Saturday evening, Nov. 13, by Miss E. M. Bell, of the Inn, to Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Kenny, who have recently built a home in the Gardens in which they are now living, after having spent the past two years at the Inn. Miss Bell made a charming hostess and her guests, (including Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Kenny, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Barnes, Miss Kirk, Miss Quinn, Misses Winifred and Ann Quinn, Miss Weis, and Messrs. Chester Simpson Shuloff, C. Moran, T. Moran, Sheehan, Delaney, Colligan, McHale, and Perkins) unanimously voted the dinner and dance a huge success.

Mr. and Mrs. James J. Pershing, of the Inn, are the guests of General John J. Pershing, who is occupying Sycamore Lodge, the home of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Demarest, at Roslyn L. I. Mr. and Mrs. Demarest are at the Inn for the winter. Mr. and Mrs. James J. Pershing, who have been permanent guests of the Inn during the past two years, will return about the first of the year.

A small, but delightful surprise dinner party was given on Monday evening last to Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Forbell, of the Inn, by Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Lathrop and a few friends who are neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Forbell at their summer home in Huntington, the occasion being the twenty-fifth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Forbell.

Owen Rossiter made his regular fortnightly visit over the last week-end, and declares his new home in Boston holds no charms like Forest Hills Gardens.

Major and Mrs. Robert M. Daniels of Philadelphia, are among the recent winter arrivals at the Inn.

The guests of the Inn were unanimously regretful in losing Mr. and Mrs. P. Summers, who have been living in the Gardens and at the Inn for the past three years. Mr. Summers' business necessitates his living in closer proximity to his offices.

Mrs. Sarah F. Benham with her daughter, Miss Edith, and Mrs. Ida M. Coles have given up their home in Cedarhurst and will spend the winter at the Inn.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Gere have left for a two weeks' visit to relatives in Cincinnati. Mrs. Gere is rapidly recovering her strength following her recent severe illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Cast and Miss Beatrice, of Malden, Mass., have returned to the Inn where it is hoped they will remain over the holiday season.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Crothwaite and daughter, Mrs. H. V. Bendalari, with her two sons, Jack and Hamilton, are among the recent arrivals at the Inn.

Miss Florence Sherman recently sailed for Europe in the interest of her firm, and will return after the Christmas holidays.

Among the latest arrivals at the Inn are Mrs. F. B. Gibson and two daughters, of Sagaponack N. Y., Mrs. H. M. Frazier and family, of San Francisco, Mrs. R. W. Steele, of Spring Lake N. J., Robert L. Buckley, of Chicago, E. J. Young, of New York, Major and Mrs. Lee White and Colonel and Mrs. Fitzhugh Lee Minningerode and their two charming little daughters.

Mrs. Wm. M. Shaw, Miss Ida Prather and James M. Brodbelt of New York, were among the Thanksgiving guests at the Inn.

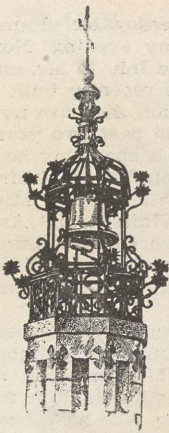

GIRL SCOUTS

Mrs. Frederick C. Edey, Girl Scout Commissioner of Greater New York, met with the officers of the Girl Scouts' Council of the Gardens at the home of Mrs. Lawrence F. Abbott, Greenway South on the afternoon of Nov. 22. Plans were formulated for disseminating an interest in the Council for Girl Scouts throughout the Borough of Queens.

All women of the Gardens interested in the Girl Scouts are urged to join the local Council. This may be done by sending their names and one dollar to the treasurer, Mrs. W. E. Woodard, 31 Greenway Terrace. This money is used to defray, in part, the expenses of the local troops' leader, Capt. Stone.

The Girl Scouts are themselves earning money in various ways to help meet the expenses of the troop. Any one wishing to secure the services of Girl Scouts may telephone Mrs. Robert Tappan, Boulevard 6793. Those having kitchen knives to be sharpened may telephone Nancy Woodard, 6480-J Boulevard.

THE CHURCH-IN-THE-GARDENS

Dr. Latshaw will be in the pulpit at the regular 11 o'clock service tomorrow morning.

Visitors and new residents in the community are especially invited to worship with us.

Dec. 5 will be Communion Sunday. Dr. Latshaw will be glad to meet any who may be considering uniting with the church at this time, either by profession of faith or by letter from another church.

A special Thanksgiving service was held in the church on Thursday morning, in which St. Luke's Episcopal Church and the Church of Forest Hills joined. The Rev. Albert Sheppard, pastor of the Church of Forest Hills, delivered the address.

The topic for discussion at the Thursday night meeting next week will be "Individual Standards in Political Relationships." Major Perry will be the leader. The subject for Dec. 9 will be, "What Shall We Do With Sunday?" While the attendance at these meetings has been very gratifying, it is regretted that many others are missing them. The discussions, under Dr. Latshaw's leadership, have been of keen interest, and a cordial invitation still awaits any who can arrange to attend. Dinner is served at 6:45 in the Social Room, and this social hour preceding the discussion is a most enjoyable feature of the evening. It is important that Mrs. Burton know in advance should you plan to attend the dinner.

Dr. Latshaw and Mr. McCulloch expect to attend the Quadrennial Meeting of the Federal Council of Churches to be held in Boston next week. W. P. McC.

"Religious (Christian) work is any work which embodies the unselfish sacrificial spirit of Jesus, and is consistently used to win men to Him in character, service and fellowship in His Church and Kingdom."—Dr. Latshaw's definition of Religious Work

THE WOMEN'S GUILD

The Women's Guild of the Church-in-the-Gardens, through its missionary committee, of which Mrs. William S. Ortgies is chairman, has been busy doing for a Slovak minister and his wife of Pittsburgh. The Guild has sent a gift of $75 and a large supply of underwear, dresses, shoes, stockings etc., for the man and his wife and two children. This minister works among his own people in the Pittsburgh district.

ST. LUKE'S MISSION

Cannon Duffield and the members of St. Luke's greatly appreciate Dr. Latshaw's invitation to join with the Church-in-the-Gardens on Thanksgiving day. The Cannon arranged a service at 9.30 at St. Luke's so as to enable the members to accept Dr. Latshaw's kind invitation, at eleven o'clock.

All articles for the rummage sale must be in not later than Nov. 27, so that the members of the Guild may wrap and price the articles. The next Woman's Guild meeting will be held the first Friday in December at the home of Mrs. Charles F. Moore, 18 Greenway Terrace.

AUDUBON SOCIETY

President of the National Association of Audubon Societies Will Give an Illustrated Lecture on Dec. 3.

"The Development of Bird Protection in America" will be the subject of an illustrated lecture which T. Gilbert Pearson, president of the National Association of Audubon Societies, will give under the auspices of the Forest Hills Gardens Audubon Society on the evening of Dec. 3, in the Social Room of the Church-in-the-Gardens. Mr. Pearson will discuss the general habits of the birds, how to attract the birds around the home, and some of the broader phases of national activities, the establishment of bird reservations, etc. He will use colored stereopticon slides and moving pictures. Mr. Pearson has been a student of birds since he was a little boy; he is the author of seven books on birds and of many articles published by the association. He has lectured all over this country and has been the secretary of the association since its organization in 1905, and for ten years has been the executive head. He organized the junior department of the Audubon work, which in the last ten years has enrolled over a quarter of a million more children as members than the Boy Scouts have enrolled among boys in the same period. He knows his subject and the lecture will be most interesting.

Every member of the local Audubon Society will receive two tickets of admission. A cordial invitation has been given to the Boy Scouts and the Girl Scouts to appear in uniform and to be the guests of the Audubon Society on the evening of Mr. Pearson's lecture. Any one who is not a member of the Audubon Society may receive two tickets by mailing one dollar as dues to Miss Mary E. Knevels, 9 Station Square, Forest Hills, who is the secretary and treasurer of the local society.

COST OF RENTING THE SOCIAL ROOM

The Social Room of the Church-in-the-Gardens is being used for many purposes and frequently the inquiry is made as to what is the cost of such rental. Horace H. Judson, 48 Slocum Crescent is chairman of the house committee for the board of trustees and to him all inquiries should go. The price charged for renting the room one evening or one afternoon is $8.00. This is to cover heat, light and janitor service and from that sum no profit is derived. The Boy Scouts are charged $2.50 an evening—just enough for janitor service.

The cost for the rental of the kitchen for the service of a dinner is $10.00. This includes the use of dishes, silver, cooking utensils etc., but it does not include linen. The cost for renting the kitchen for the service of an afternoon tea party or evening refreshments is $5.00. The renter must make good the losses. The kitchen must be left in the condition in which it is found.

There is considerable demand for the rental of dishes etc., to be taken from the room. All dishes and pieces of silver are rented at two cents for each article, except the punch bowl, which is rented for twenty five cents. The person who rents these things must take them from the church and return them to the church and must make good any loss or breakage. Mrs. W. H. Batcheller, 160 Greenway North has charge of the rental of the kitchen and its contents, representing as she does the Women's Guild of the Church.
