MONUMENT UNVEILED

Impressive Ceremony Marks the Patriotic Occasion in Ideal Weather.

Inspiring Address By Major General Summerall Will Long Be Remembered—The Whole Village Attends

"The hospitality and kindness of the people of Forest Hills to the soldiers at Camp Mills and at Garden City was well known and appreciated by the army men," said Major General Charles P. Summerall, U. S. A., when he spoke at the unveiling of the monument to the soldiers and sailors on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 10. He paid a glowing tribute to the bravery of the United States soldiers who survived the war and then he recalled with gratitude the unselfish service of those who were killed and wounded. "The war is not over," he said, "and will never be over for the families of the dead and wounded.

"A nation is great," he continued, "not from wealth, or territory, or cities, or educational institutions, important as those things are, but true greatness lies in the ideals and in the things of the spirit. People give expression to their ideals in monuments, when they remember the achievements of their illustrious soldiers. You have done well to record in bronze the names of the citizens who have done service. The young and middle aged and old will come here for inspiration. The spirit of patriotism will always live here. From this monument you will learn the nobility of service of action. Fulfillment of all aspiration comes from high patriotism.

"Patriotism and religion, or whatever your philosophy of living, are one! Let every day be purposeful and then the people of this land will never be found wanting," were the closing words of a most inspiring address.

After the singing of "America" and a prayer, of rededication of the lives of the people, by the Rev. David Latshaw, D. D., pastor of the Church-in-the-Gardens, Lyman Beecher Stowe, the chairman of the day, explained how the monument came to be. The president of the Community Council (then called the Taxpayers' Association), appointed Mr. Stowe chairman of a committee of forty for the welcome home of the soldiers and sailors. One division of the committee helped the returning men to find employment and John Allen King was the chairman. Another division decorated the station platform with flags and welcome-home signs, so that all soldiers who passed through Forest Hills might be cheered. Of this division Walter D. Teague was chairman. Another division was made responsible for the enduring monument of bronze. Vincent E. Englebach was first chairman and then Walter D. Teague. By majority vote the Green near the Flag Pole was chosen for the site. Adolph A. Weinman, the sculptor, who designed the new dime and half dollar piece and the service button, was selected to design the monument. Mr. Weinman, a resident of the Gardens, refused all remuneration for his services. The total cost, including material and the workmanship of Mr. Weinman's assistants, has been $5,000. There is a small deficit and any one who has not contributed is invited to do so by sending a check to the treasurer, F. Clark Thompson, Winter Street.

The monument of bronze and granite symbolizes "The call to service over seas," and contains the names of 102 men. The Flag veiled the monument so that the unveiling and the Flag raising, conducted by the Forest Hills Post of the American Legion, under Lieutenant Harvey T. Warren, the president, were one and the same impressive ceremony. After the unveiling, the chairman introduced Major General Summerall, the military expert, teacher and gallant fighter, who commanded the First Division in France and was in every important engagement "over there." His record in the Spanish-American war, Philippine campaign and Boxer uprising was a brilliant one. In a rich deep voice he delivered the address, extracts of which are given at the beginning of this article.

Service medals were bestowed on a number of the men by General Summerall, and then the exercises closed with the singing of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

COMMUNITY HOUSE FAIR

Ladies are Working to Make a $2,000 Donation—Many are Helping.

So much assistance is being given, by residents of the village of all denominations, to the fair, which the Women's Guild of the Church-in-the-Gardens is planning to give in the sales office Nov. 3 and 4, and also from the fact that the proceeds are to go to the Community House that the ladies have decided to name it Community House Fair instead of Alphabetical Fair as heretofore advertised. The decorations of the booths will be most attractive and there will be many features to interest young, middle aged and old. The ladies are hoping to be able to make a donation of $2,000 to the Community House after this fair, so that all are urged to help. Send donations to Mrs. Charles H. Scammell, 14 Greenway Terrace, who is the general chairman.

FOREST HILLS REPUBLICAN CLUB

On Wednesday Oct. 20, 8 P. M. there will be a big Republican rally in Station Square. All residents are urged to attend and hear Senator James W. Wadsworth, Jr., and Francis M. Hugo, who will address the meeting.

As announced in the BULLETIN of Sept. 18, the following officers of the Republican Club were elected at a meeting held on Sept. 15: President, S. W. Eckman; vice-presidents J. J. Pershing Mrs. Augustine J. Wilson, E. J. Dowse; secretary, M. J. Springsteen, and treasurer, John M. McMillin. At a later meeting the constitution and by-laws were adopted and the above officers were chosen for the permanent organization to serve until the end of the year.

THE COMMUNITY FAMILY

WITH the blue sky above our heads, in the "sweet, calm October sunshine," the community of Forest Hills unveiled the beautiful monument, an everlasting tribute to the soldiers and sailors of our town. We listened to the inspiring words of a great soldier and rededicated our lives to ideals and to service. The occasion was made all the more lovely by the Indian summer weather which prevailed.

To some of us who had the pleasure of meeting Major General Summerall, we were not only impressed by the military man of training and fame but as much by the gracious, kindly gentleman, who is as tender as a woman and as brave as a lion. He told us fascinating stories of his experiences in France, stories of pathos and valor. He was intensely interested in our community and several times said to the president of the Community Council, "I congratulate you on your happy community family."

After all the community is a family. Here are the old, the middle-aged and the young. Here are the weak and the strong. Some have many talents, some are not so gifted. But it is one large family, just the same. William Morris, the English poet and artist of the last part of the last century, wrote a wonderful and long poem, picturing the ideal community, which he calls "The Earthly Paradise." That is a good way to look at our community. The occasions, which call us together on the Green, are to be cherished. Family life, whether meaning the group of families in the community or the individual family life, is a splendid thing in this day to emphasize. Whatever impresses or encourages home life is something to cherish. The family which finds the work, study and recreation of the individual members, of mutual interest to all, is always a happy family and an exemplary one. On the day when the community families came together on the Green to honor our heroes and to think of our common and beloved country, a great and kindly soldier compared our community to a happy family. Forgetting the differences in creeds, politics and geography, let us come together often in the mutual allegiance to the ideals of our nation.

MRS. JOHN ORTGIES

Eliza Somerville Ortgies, widow of the late John Ortgies, died at her home, 346 Burns Street, on Sept. 29 after an illness of many weeks. For a few weeks before her death her health had been much improved, so that the sudden turn for the worse a few hours before the end was a shock. She was almost 84 years old. The services were held at the residence and were conducted by Dr. Robert J. Kent. Interment was held at Greenwood cemetery.

Mrs. Ortgies' husband, John Ortgies, was a dealer in fine art treasures in this country, famous in the trade for fifty years. Since his death she has made her home with her daughter Miss Charlotte, who and the sons, Dr. W. S. Ortgies Continental Avenue, and James Ortgies of Walden, New York, survive her. Mrs. Ortgies was a member of the Church-in-the-Gardens. She was a real gentlewoman, of the old school, whose life was a benediction.

"POMANDER WALK" A DELIGHT TO THE AUDIENCES

Nothing in the Amateur Way Ever Given Here With the Charm of This Quaint Play—The Gardens Players Deserve and Receive Great Praise

In spite of the rain which interfered with some of the plans of the Gardens Players in presenting "Pomander Walk," and notwithstanding the chill of the early October evenings when the play was given, the local artists completely outclassed their former programs. During many years of interest in amateur theatricals, since college days, the writer has never seen anything which compared with "Pomander Walk" as given on Burns Street on Oct. 1, 2, 4 and 5, in finish of detail, in artistic effect, in charm and in the perfection of the whole cast. The play itself is quaint and wholesome and the production has made a most pleasing impression on the entire community. If there is a man, woman or child who was not present that person must have heard from neighbors that all absent missed an evening of perfect delight.

The natural setting of real houses and a real tree, made clear by an adequate lighting arrangement, the sail peeping above the wall and the realistic fish pulled out of the water by the Eyesore, made the Burns Street group a literal "Pomander Walk." It will never be called anything else. The enunciation of the actors was clear and distinct. The costuming, especially of the ladies, was charming, and made a lovely picture. It would be a pleasure to call attention to each member of the cast but one deserves no more praise than another; all were perfectly fitted to their parts. To Miss Bertha Mandell great credit is due, for she staged the production and trained the actors and actresses.

The Gardens Players deserve the reputation of being one of the three or four leading groups of amateur players in the country and this is proven by the fact that professional actors and critics who viewed the performance of "Pomander Walk" refused to grant the members of the cast the leeway usually given in judging amateurs. The performance, when judged by professional standards, was most acceptable to the critics.

The village of Forest Hills is proud of the Gardens Players.
THE PLAYERS' NEIGHBOR.

SCENE MODEL EXHIBIT

On the program as outlined for the season's activities the Gardens Players plan to have a scene model exhibit. All members of the Players who are interested in the scene painters' art are invited to prepare a scene model for this exhibit. If anyone is interested in this work but does not feel that he can prepare a model alone, please communicate with the secretary, Miss Maude Marren, 51 Burns Street, who will connect him with someone who either wants or will give assistance in this work.

The exhibit is scheduled for the first week in December, but notice of it is given at this time to allow plenty of time for the preparation of the models. Anyone who plans to exhibit a model should advise the secretary as soon as possible so that the proper arrangements may be made for the placing and the lighting of his exhibit.

PLAYGROUND REOPENED

The playground committees of the Community Council and the Mothers' Club reopened the playgrounds near public school 101 on Oct. 9 and they will continue to be open until Nov. 5. As an instructor, Miss Elizabeth Hughes has been engaged. The playground is open and Miss Hughes is there from 3 to 6 P. M. on weekdays and from 9 A. M. to 12 M. and 1 to 6 P. M. on Saturdays.

The committees hope to have the support of the people of the community in this undertaking and will be glad to make the playground a permanent institution if the residents of Forest Hills back the project financially.

THE INN

Golf "faddists" of the Inn and Gardens will no doubt be glad to know that the practice game of "Clock Golf" is now installed in the garden of the Inn and anyone wishing to use same will be made most welcome.

Announcement has just been made of the coming marriage of Capt. Adam Thomas Shurick of the Inn to Miss Eugenia Byars of Mobile, Alabama. Capt. Shurick is among the pioneers of the Inn, and is also one of the most popular bachelors whom it has been the pleasure of the Inn to entertain. Miss Byars has spent the past year in New York and has visited Forest Hills on many occasions.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell R. Whitman and Miss Mary Lee Whitman recently returned from their summer camp in the heart of the Maine woods, though Miss Whitman has since returned to her college home.

The guests of the Inn are sorry to lose from their midst Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Gallant, who are to make their future home in Boston, Mass., where Dr. Gallant has been detailed on some special research work.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Brion and their charming little family are spending a few weeks at the Inn before occupying their new home on Olive Place.

Miss Isabel Buckingham, one of the Inn's regular family, has recently returned after spending the summer in the New England states and after enjoying a visit with Mrs. Bangs of Huntington, whom the Inn is also pleased to number among its regular guests.

Mrs. George A. Owens and Miss Janet A. Sales of Detroit, Michigan, are spending several months at the Inn.

The Misses J. C. and B. L. Moore, who are also numbered among the Inn's valued winter family, recently returned from their summer stay in New England.

Mr. H. O. D. Griffith and his sister, Miss Linda Griffith, of Hampton, Virginia, are spending a few weeks at the Inn, after which Miss Griffith leaves for the Girls' Seminary in Washington, D. C.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles E. Burton, Rockrose Place, are back in their home after a summer at South Hero, Vermont. Lyndon and Dorothy Burton are in Oberlin College, Oberlin, Ohio. Malcolm and Myron Burton are in school at Andover, Mass.

Mrs. Lyman Beecher Stowe and children of Greenway South will return from Stockbridge, Mass., the end of this month.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence F. Abbott and family of Greenway South are back in their home after a summer at Cornwall-on-the-Hudson.

A. Kreamer and family of Puritan Avenue are home after covering 1,000 miles on a motor trip, touring the Adirondacks, with Alexander Bay as a destination point.

The name of Adolph A. Weinman of Greenway South, the sculptor, should be added to the list of Forest Hills names in "Who's Who?" Mr. Weinman's address is given as New York, therefore it was omitted in the former list.

Also the name of Charles Earl, Ivy Close, may be found in "Who's Who."

LOST.—At the unveiling of the monument on Sunday afternoon, a plain gold wedding ring. Finder please telephone 6357-J Boulevard.

CORNERSTONE LAID FOR MASONIC TEMPLE

The cornerstone of Forest Hills Masonic Temple was laid with appropriate ceremonies on Saturday, Oct. 9, at 3 P. M. Sunshine and delightful weather helped materially in the successful accomplishment of this historical act. Forest Hills Lodge members marched 100 per cent. strong and mustered in its ranks over 115 Master Masons. The officers of the Grand Lodge who participated in the ceremony were: M. W. Robert H. Robinson, Grand Master; R. W. Thomas J. Towers, Deputy Grand Master; R. W. Charles A. Tonsor, S. G. Warden; R. W. Richard D. M. Brown, J. G. Warden; M. W. Robert J. Kenworthy, Grand Secretary; R. W. W. E. Cromwell, Grand Treasurer; R. W. John J. McCrum, Grand Marshal; R. W. William R. Watson, Grand Chaplain; R. W. Oscar F. R. Treder, Grand Chaplain, assisted by their associate Grand Lodge officers.

Delegations from other lodges and commanderies were present, particularly DeWitt Clinton Commandery No. 27, Knight Templars (in full regalia), under command of Sir George Herring, commander, and Most Eminent George Bonnington, Past Grand Commander of the Grand Commandery of the State of New York.

Immediately previous to the actual laying of the cornerstone a beautifully engraved solid silver trowel was presented by Forest Hills Lodge to the Grand Master as a memento of the occasion.

Forest Hills citizens turned out in large force in honor of the occasion and under most favorable auspices the cornerstone was duly laid and the building consecrated and dedicated with full ceremony and Masonic ritual. R. W. Oscar F. R. Treder delivered a vigorous address.

The cornerstone itself is an artistic piece of sculpture and has been greatly admired for its beauty and simplicity. A copper box suitably inscribed and properly sealed is deposited within the cornerstone itself and contains Masonic documents, copies of FOREST HILLS GARDENS BULLETIN, New York Times and Masonic Standard; United States coins and a history of Forest Hills Lodge with a roster of its members.

The Temple is to be 44x106 feet, and will eventually be three stories and basement. The foundation is of stone and the building itself will be of white brick. The basement will eventually contain bowling alleys, and the first floor is to be arranged for offices of some bank or other institution. On the second floor will be the assembly and community hall with stage, and the lodge itself will occupy the entire third floor. Until the building is completed, the lodge will hold its meetings in the basement, which, it is expected, will be ready for occupancy in six weeks.

CELEBRATIONS ASSOCIATION

The executive board of the Celebrations Association met at the sales office on Monday evening, Oct. 4, with Horace McRobert, Jr., the new president, in the chair. It was announced that there would be a Christmas Eve celebration, with Dr. Ralph W. Waddell general chairman. There will be sub-committees dealing with music, costumes, etc., and the finale at Station Square. For the ways and means committee Henry W. Hirschberg will be general chairman. The executive committee is sincerely desirous of finding out the wishes of the residents of the Gardens as to just what methods shall be pursued in conducting this celebration. Over what streets shall the march take place? Do the villagers wish one Santa Claus or several? Is it wise to have a tree on Station Square? Please send suggestions to Horace McRobert, Jr., Gardens Apartments.

The next meeting of the executive board will be held on Nov. 8, 8 P. M., at the sales office.

GIRL SCOUTS

The mothers of girls of scout age met yesterday afternoon, Oct. 14, at the home of Mrs. Robert Tappan to discuss the question of the reorganization of the Girl Scouts. The scouts will meet next Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 20 at 4 P. M., in the kindergarten room of public school 101. It is hoped that there will be volunteer leaders for this important work.

Some of the older Girl Scouts are ready to make some money and would be glad to assist mothers in the care of young children. Any mothers who wish such assistance will please call Mrs. Robert Tappan, 28 Whitson Street, Boulevard 6793.

THE CHURCH-IN-THE-GARDENS

Dr. Latshaw will preach at the 11 o'clock service tomorrow morning.

The Sunday School is now well under way and the attendance is increasing rapidly. Some of the classes will have to be divided immediately, which means that additional teachers are needed. A class of boys and a class of girls have come up from the primary department to the junior grade. Dr. Latshaw's sermon last Sunday should have produced a number of volunteer teachers. "A waiting list of teachers for the Sunday School" sounds ideal to the officers of the school. Won't you help to make it practical?

The Thursday Night Social Study Club is already an assured success. This series of discussions on "Social Standards for the New Age," under Dr. Latshaw's leadership, will cover a period of ten weeks, and will be built around an outline course by one of the keenest minds of his day—Dr. Walter Rauschenbusch, late Professor of Church History, Rochester Theological Seminary. The subject for discussion next Thursday night is "The Solidarity of the Human Family." A cordial invitation awaits you in this group.

Notwithstanding the fact that eight of the active members of the Christian Endeavor Society have either moved away or are attending school elsewhere this year, the ranks were well filled at the first two meetings. The officers for the new term are: President, J. Floyd McTyrie; vice-president, Josephine Middleton; secretary, Dorothy Reimer; treasurer, John Montague. The society meets regularly at 7:45 on Sunday evening in the Social Room.

The following were received into the membership of the church last Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. Russell Parker, Greenway North and Puritan Avenue; Mr. and Mrs. J. Russell Parker, 21 Russell Place; Mr and Mrs. Winfield Mercer, 111 Quentin Street, Kew Gardens, and Miss Florence K. Nixon, 21 Russell Place, all coming, by letter, from the Central Congregational Church, Brooklyn. Also Miss Jane Elder, 510 Gardens Apartments, coming as an affiliated member from the Presbyterian Church of Lewistown, Pa.

ST. LUKE'S GUILD

The first monthly meeting of the Woman's Guild of St. Luke's Mission was held at the home of Mrs. F. Clark Thompson, Winter Street, on Friday afternoon, Oct. 8. Election of officers was the business of the day. Mrs. Thompson Tyler Sweeney was elected president, Mrs. G. Willis Drake, vice-president, and Mrs. Arthur Wright, secretary and treasurer. The meeting was well attended and was an enthusiastic one. The guild is in a fine financial condition. A rummage sale will be held in November, the exact time and place will be announced later. Any articles for the sale will be gladly received by any of the officers.

The Guild will also take charge of the refreshments for dances on Saturday night at the Inn for this winter as formerly.

WOMEN'S CLUB

First Meeting of the Year Enthusiastic. Appeal to be Made for Course of Lectures.

With Mrs. Augustine J. Wilson in the chair, the Women's Club of Forest Hills inaugurated its eighth year at the Inn on Monday afternoon, Oct. 4. Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Albert M. Gray were elected delegates to the convention of New York City Federation of Women's Clubs to be held at Hotel Astor on Oct. 29. Miss Wilhelmina Backus and Mrs. Edward Scott Swazey were elected alternates. The new members announced were: Mrs. Willis J. Abbot, Miss M. E. Burdick, Miss Claire Courtney, Mrs. L. I. Foster, Mrs. H. W. Hardinge, Miss Estelle Johnson, Mrs. Richard S. Newcombe, Mrs. Herbert Padelinetti and Mrs. Charles Thornley. The board of education will be appealed to in order to secure a course of lectures in the new school building when it is completed, by vote of the Women's Club, which follows the same action of the Mothers' Club.

This meeting was president's day. Mrs. Wilson shared the honor with Mrs. Harry Lilly, the president of 350 clubs of New York City which are joined in one big federation, the largest in this country, if not in the world. Mrs. Lilly spoke of the work of the federation, which maintains five scholarships for needy and deserving girls; it also goes into the courts and sees that justice is done women; it is vitally interested in Americanization and in every phase of education. The federation will conduct a forum this winter for the study of many problems of the city and of the city government.

Another speaker was Mrs. Emile Glogau, president of the City Federation Hotel for Working Girls, which was started in 1909 and today gives a home to fifty girls at a nominal rate, the project being practically self-supporting.

The third speaker was Miss Eva Potter of the League of Women Voters, who urged the women to register in an existing party and then to vote independently on Nov. 2. Miss Elise Gardener sang two groups of songs, showing a well-trained voice under perfect control.

The current readings chapter will meet at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Donald G. Clark, 49 Markwood Road, Tuesday, Oct. 19, at 2:30 P. M., when Mrs. Thurlow Gordon will review Seigfried Sasson's poetry. The music chapter will meet at the home of Mrs. Edwin Bird Wilson, chairman, 134 Puritan Avenue, Tuesday, Oct. 26, at 2:30 P. M., when there will be under consideration the composers of the year.

THE CARE OF WINTER BIRDS

On Oct. 21, H. F. Button, of the State Institute of Applied Agriculture, will go from room to room in public schools 3 and 101 and talk to the boys and girls on the care and feeding of the winter birds. Mr. Button visited the schools last spring and was most successful in adapting himself to the different ages of the children. He is doing this work under the auspices of the Forest Hills Gardens Audubon Society.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS

The present registration of the public schools of Forest Hills is greater by fifty pupils than it was last June. This increase will undoubtedly continue. An extra allotment of $700 has been secured by the principal to provide the additional supplies needed for the opening of the new public school 3.
