WHITSON STREET DEVELOPED

High Grade Houses Erected by Forest Hills Gardens Homes Co.

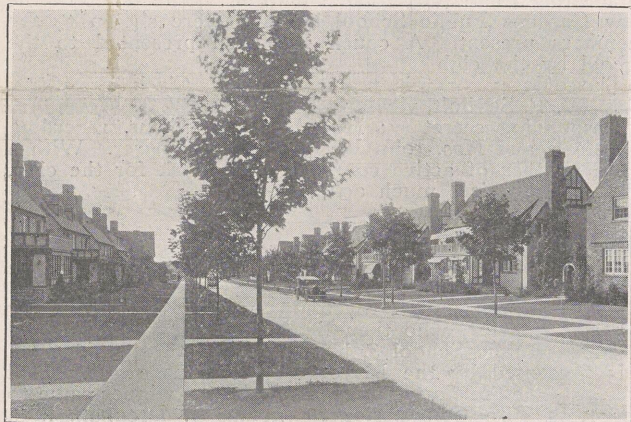

The view of Whitson Street pictured in this issue shows the latest and one of the most attractive blocks in the Gardens. It is all built up except the corner lots. The houses were constructed by the Forest Hills Gardens Homes Co., after plans by Robert Tappan as modified in exterior elevations and setback by Grosvenor Atterbury.

The groups consist of six semi-detached 6-room houses of stucco on hollow tile, four 7-room semi-detached brick houses and two larger detached houses on each side of the street, making a total of 24 houses.

The first group on the north side of Whitson Street were all sold last year and are occupied by the following families: J. A. Brook, Frederick Roeder, E. F. Nolan, R. K. Sterling, D. S. Mallory, C. B. Sias, I. K. Hare, F. D. Moore, H. V. Broden, F. L. Marsh, J. O. Parisette, and W. R. Clymer.

The duplicate group on the south side of the street is nearing final completion. Four of these 12 houses are occupied by the B. A. Rolling, L. W. Finch, George Hampton and C. B. Taylor families. All of the 6-room houses are sold. There remain of the semi-detached houses only those with seven rooms, two baths and garage. The two end houses are larger and are elsewhere described in detail in this issue.

Over half of the purchasers of these houses were already residents of Forest Hills or Kew Gardens and others are related to local residents who recommended these houses on account of their excellent construction.

A particularly pleasing feature of this block is the set back of the houses which gives the effect of a very wide street although the roadway itself is of the usual width. The rows of maples on either side and broad expanse of lawns without hedges with a harmonious blending of houses of solid brick and hollow tile and stucco with brick trimmings, all contribute to produce a most pleasing impression. In the evenings, these houses look particularly homey and inviting. They all have a rear service lane for delivery and collection of garbage and ashes, so that no unsightly cans are ever seen in the street.

This development is owned and managed by the Forest Hills Gardens Homes Co., which is composed of residents of Forest Hills. The company purchased 110 lots from the Sage Foundation Homes Co. Its motto is "Build the right kind of houses for the right kind of people to live in."

THE GARDENS CORPORATION TO MEET

A very important meeting of the Gardens Corporation will be held on Monday evening, Oct. 27, 8 o'clock, in the Church-in-the-Gardens. There will be reports of chairmen of committees as well as officers. Three directors will be elected to take the places of Judge John R. Davies, Walter D. Teague and Dr. Philip G. Cole, whose terms expire. According to the constitution, there is nothing to prevent their re-election.

Ever since the organization of the Gardens Corporation the meetings have been well attended and the difficulty has been to find a place large enough to accommodate all who wish to come.

NINE-ROOM HOUSE DESCRIBED

Modern Improvements and Special Features are Characteristics

The accompanying cut shows one of the detached end brick houses of the new group on the south side of Whitson Street, just finished by the Forest Hills Gardens Homes Co. These houses contain many special features and are much admired by visitors. The one near Ascan Avenue has been decorated and is open for inspection. This house contains five double and one single bedroom and four bathrooms on the second floor. A den or library room is one feature of the first floor.

The usual features of high grade construction characteristic of the Gardens houses are included in these dwellings with several unique additions. The houses have no wooden lath, as metal lath is employed throughout even in the cellar ceilings. Solid poured concrete foundations, heavy steel columns and cellar girders, double floors of full thickness, furred outside walls, two open fire places, one enclosed and two open porches, red tile roof, copper metal work throughout and four coats of paint for all inside walls, are but a few of the details of the high grade construction.

Some of the special features of this particular house are, combination living and dining room, two-car garage, cork and rubber composition set-in kitchen floor, Whitehouse kitchen cabinet, Pullman breakfast alcove, vacuum heating system and Baker automatic oil burner. Great interest is shown by visitors in the operation of this burner, which is entirely automatic, operating from a Minneapolis thermostat upstairs and eliminating all the coal troubles, dirt, dust and ashes. There is a 1000-gallon oil tank submerged in the rear yard. A number of these Baker oil burners have been in use in the Gardens for the past year or two and their owners are highly pleased with them.

Visitors are welcome to inspect this house at any time, evenings by appointment, telephone Boulevard 6872.

BOY SCOUTS

I would trust a Boy Scout with any honorable service—would leave in his care any reasonable responsibility. Boy Scouts are the big-little men of America plus patriotism.

Any man who contributes something to the service of the Boy Scouts loans permanence to America's prosperity by helping to promote integrity, industry and ideals.—The Silent Partner.

HELP THE LIBRARY GROW

THE large increase in population in Forest Hills means a greater enrollment in the Library Station. This is very pleasing to those interested in the library. Children in the 3-A grade and in all higher grades at school are invited to become users of the institution and all adults are urged to join. Approximately 1,000 books are kept on the shelves, and they are constantly changing. The library is located in the old Sales Office at the head of the Green, and is open Mondays from 3 to 5:30 and on Fridays from 3 to 6 o'clock. Miss Florence Loper is in charge.

After you have enrolled, ask for the books you wish. Recently the writer requested that books on Lincoln be placed on the shelves for the use of a class of boys. Within a few days there were nine authoritative and representative books on Lincoln brought here for the use of these boys. More books on the same subject will follow soon. Patience and perseverance will be rewarded, and sooner or later the books for which you have made a request will be on the shelves.

Circulation is the barometer of the growth of the library and the criterion which helps decide what library improvements Forest Hills should have. There are twenty-two library stations in Queens, and we are tenth in the order of circulation. Let us borrow books from the Forest Hills Station and so move up to the top in the record of circulation in Queens.

BOOKS AT THE LIBRARY

The following is a list of the new and popular books recently added to the Forest Hills Station of the Queens Borough Public Library:

Ayres, "Man Without a Heart"; Bisch, "Conquest of Self"; Burt, "Interpreter's House"; Canfield, "Home-Maker"; Cohen, "Jim Hanvey, Detective"; Espina, "Red Beacon"; Damrosch, "My Musical Life"; Gibbs, "Heirs Apparent"; Forman, "Guilt"; Hughes, "Golden Ladder"; Jameson, "Pitiful Wife"; Kyne, "Long Chance"; Lorimer, "By the Waters of Egypt"; McFee, "Race"; Nutting, "Vermont Beautiful"; Page, "Letters"; Poole, "Avalanche"; Sandy, "Andorra"; Stewart, "Perfect Behavior"; Wodehouse, "Golf Without Tears," "Boudoir Mirrors of Washington"; Parker, "Ports and Happy Places"; Pedler, "Splendid Folly"; Smith, "Isle of Thorns"; Wilson, "Able McLaughlins."

WANTED — A BOOKCASE

Two rows of books may be found on many of the shelves in the Library Station of the Queens Borough Public Library in the Sales Office of the Sage Foundation Homes Co. This makes a difficult situation for Miss Florence Loper, the librarian, and for those who come to the Station to borrow the books. Another book case is sorely needed. Is there not some one in Forest Hills, who can supply that need? The case must have doors, so that it may be locked when the Library is not open. If you have a case to give, please telephone to Mrs. George Smart, Boulevard 6709-W.

MEN'S CLUB DIRECTORY

Information Being Compiled by Secretary Bebb—Monday Night Meeting.

The Men's Club is compiling information as to addresses, business affiliations, and telephone numbers of its members. A circular which has been sent out by J. C. Bebb, secretary, says: "It is felt that in many cases members of the club are not familiar with the business affiliations of other members, and that if they did have such knowledge, there might be a mutual interchange of business or information." The information, when compiled, will be printed in a handy size booklet and distributed to members.

At the meeting of the club next Monday evening, at the home of George H. Wicke, 19 Markwood Road, E. H. Mays will tell about a sojourn of some seven months in Japan; Niels Holch will tell of his experiences during the past summer in Denmark; Thurlow M. Gordon will make an interesting report on the meeting of the British and American Bar Association in London; and Lyman Beecher Stowe will tell about a trip which he made with Mrs. Stowe and their children to the Pacific Coast.

Judge Boyce finds that he can not serve as chairman of the committee on hospitality, but will continue as a member. He has been succeeded as chairman by Donald G. Clark.

GARDENS MOTHERS MEET

The Gardens Mothers' Club met Wednesday afternoon in Public School 101, with Mrs. Donald G. Clark, president, in the chair. Miss Mabel Sondheim, principal of the Forest Hills Public Schools, spoke on "The Present Public School Conditions in Forest Hills." The crowded conditions present many difficult problems to the principal and the teachers. Miss Sondheim thanked the mothers for their co-operation in meeting these perplexing situations. The plans of the new Gardens Public School building were shown to the members present. A couch has been presented to the school by the club.

The officers for this year are: Mrs. Clark, president; Mrs. W. F. Saybolt, vice-president; Mrs. W. J. Welsh, Jr., corresponding secretary; Mrs. Roger Williams, recording secretary, and Mrs. John M. McMillin, treasurer. With a large number of active committees at work for the club, the year promises much achievement.

MEDAL FOR ESSAY

An essay on Fire Prevention, written last May, by Eleanor Chesley, who then lived on Roman Avenue and attended Public School 3, brought to her a medal, which was presented by the Mayor on the steps of City Hall Oct. 8. The announcement that she was a winner came to her from Fire Commissioner Thomas J. Drennan, in a letter. School children throughout the city entered the competition, and a certain number of medals were awarded for the different grades. Eleanor is now attending the Public School in Kew Gardens.

MISS RANLETT RESUMES CLASSES

Miss Eleanor Stone Ranlett resumes today her classes in toe, interpretative, character and social dancing, at the Forest Hills Inn. The classes in interpretative dancing, for babies, juniors and seniors, will be held this morning, and from 2:30 to 6 o'clock the toe, advanced technique and ball-room dancing will be taught. This program will be repeated every Saturday for 20 weeks. Miss Ranlett has taught here for a number of years, and her classes are large and enthusiastic.

CHRISTMAS EVE PLANS

The Celebrations Association of Forest Hills Gardens is making plans for a program on Christmas Eve. C. B. Nelcamp will be chairman of Santa Claus and assistants and he will of course have charge of toys. John A. Tompkins will draw the plans for decorating Station Square. S. W. Eckman will be chairman of the pageant. Donald G. Clark will be responsible for the music. Mrs. George Smart will be chairman of gifts for poor children of Queens.

PSYCHOLOGIST INSTRUCTS AND ENTERTAINS

Women's Club Starts a Promising Year—Chairmen Are Appointed and Ratified.

David Seabury in speaking before the Women's Club Monday afternoon, Oct. 6, on the subject; "Your Intelligence Quotient and How It Is Discovered," not only explained what the "I. Q." means but also tested the intelligence of the members. He was introduced by Mrs. Robert C. Adams, who presided during the meeting. He claimed that intelligence tests show one's ability to relate materialistically, that they merely show the mechanics of intellect, not wisdom or understanding. Also that the tests are not a measure of permanent intelligence. Endowment and possibilities are two different things, he claimed, and he closed with these emphatic words: "You can teach an old dog new tricks." At the close of the lecture as many members as cared to do so took an intelligence test, but the grades were not disclosed.

Mrs. Adams announced the following chapter and committee chairmen, as appointed by her and they were ratified by the club: current readings chapter, Mrs. A. M. Gray; civic committee, Mrs. William A. Hume; courtesy committee, Mrs. Donald G. Clark; house committee, Mrs. H. W. Hillman; library committee, Mrs. George Smart; membership, Mrs. John A. McFarlan; music committee, Mrs. Charles Poore; motion picture committee, Mrs. J. Elmer Kline; reception committee, Mrs. John J. Sheahan; ways and means committee, Mrs. W. S. Mayer; scholarship committee, Mrs. Lee Galloway, and year book committee, Mrs. Galloway.

Mrs. Galloway told the story of Hudson Kellogg, the Newtown High School boy, who has had the club scholarship for the last two years. He is a worthy, needy, scholarly boy, who works hard. His dream is to become a patent attorney. His mother is a widow with five children and she is employed in Macy's. Hudson himself works on Saturday. The club voted $150 scholarship, to be paid in ten monthly installments to this deserving boy.

Mrs. Jack Berman told of the need of the Jamaica Day Nursery, 224 Prospect Street, the income of which is $1000 a year in fees and the cost of maintaining the institution is $7,000 a year. Mrs. Berman asked for annual memberships of the nursery, among the members of the club.

To the New York Federation of Women's Clubs convention, which was held at the Astor, Oct. 17, Mrs. R. C. Adams and Mrs. James A. Brook were elected delegates and Mrs. W. S. Ortgies and Mrs. H. C. Bixler, alternates. To the Safety Council meeting which was held in Brooklyn, Oct. 15, Mrs. Joseph Barrett was elected delegate. Mrs. W. L. Bishop was elected a member of the club.

Zone Captains.

Mrs. William A. Hume, chairman of the civic committee, announces the names of the captains of the zones of the village. They are: Mrs. William Patterson, Shorthill; R. Dawson Hall, Olivia; Mrs. M. M. Davidson, Central; Mrs. B. A. Kendig, Playground; Mrs. George B. Hanavan, Continental; Mrs. Clarence Perry, Austin; Mrs. Edward Mandel, School House; Mrs. C. W. Johnson, Euclid. Mrs. E. H. Pierce is chairman of captains of the north side of the village. Mrs. Ralph E. Renaud is chairman of the food store committee and Mrs. Virgil Miller is chairman of the committee on school work.

The current readings chapter of the Women's Club will meet on the afternoon of Oct. 28, 2:30 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. J. Gorton Marsh, 68 Greenway North. The book to be reviewed and the reviewer are not announced.

AGNES REPPLIER SPEAKS ON LIBRARY DAY

Agnes Repplier will speak before the Women's Club at the Forest Hills Inn, on the afternoon of Monday, Nov. 3, at 2 o'clock. Her subject will be, "What It Means to Be Civilized."

Miss Repplier's home is in Philadelphia and although she is an American, she is of French descent. Her lively essay style deals with many subjects in a vein of humorous banter. She is a popular speaker at the Town Hall in New York and throughout the country. She has written much for the magazines, particularly the Atlantic Monthly. She is the author of a dozen or more books of which the following may be found in the Forest Hills Station of the Queens Borough Public Library: "Book of Famous Verse," "Compromises," "In the Dozy Hours," "Points of View," "Points of Friction" and "Varia."

CHURCH-IN-THE-GARDENS

Notable progress is being made this year in the field of religious education. In the Primary Department there is a full equipment of teachers, including several trained kindergartners, under the general direction of Mrs. C. E. Burton. One of the newest additions to the teaching force is Miss Elizabeth Rockwell, of 40 Deepdene Road, who is in charge of one of the classes of beginners. In the Intermediate Department, among the recent acquisitions to the teaching staff are Mrs. L. M. Kelley and Miss Margaret Lashaw. In the Senior Department, George Smart continues his class every Sunday morning at his home, where the interest is sustained. The basis of study this quarter is Lord Charnwood's "Life of Abraham Lincoln," and the special debate scheduled for tomorrow is "Is Poverty or Wealth a Greater Handicap to a Boy?" On Sunday, October 26, part of the time will be given to a comparison of Lincoln and Roosevelt as the 27th is Roosevelt's birthday. There are altogether over 30 persons engaged in the administration of the Junior Church and Church School—all volunteers!

The boys are showing great interest in the inception of a troop of Boy Scouts. A scout committee, consisting of E. H. Mays, Arthur H. Flint and Henry Hof, has been selected, and Lyndon Burton is to act as scoutmaster. Assistant scoutmasters have not as yet been selected. The scouts will meet in the social room on Friday evenings at 7:30.

A class for the older members of the Church School who desire to unite with the church at the December communion has been formed and meets at the church in the minister's room on Wednesday afternoons at 4:45 o'clock. This class will be conducted by the Minister.

Tomorrow, at the regular morning service, the soloist will be Mrs. Alexander Greene, who will sing Franck's "Panis Angelicus," Mrs. J. A. Corscaden playing the violin obligato. The church will welcome back the organist, Samuel W. Pearce, who has been seriously sick in the New York Hospital for several weeks.

Father and Son week comes this year November 9 to 15, and a banquet is being planned in the Church-in-the-Gardens for some night in that week. C.E.S.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Services at the First Presbyterian Church tomorrow will be as follows: 10 o'clock, Sunday School; 11 o'clock, Public Worship. Rev. Albert Sheppard, minister, will preach to the topic, "Through Heaven and Earth, God's Will Moves Freely." The topic for the fourth and last Sunday of the month will be, "Something to Love He Lends Us."

Forest Hills Boy Scout Troop No. 1 meets each Friday night in the Sunday School rooms of the Presbyterian Church, Seminole Ave. and Gown St., under the mastership of George Springsteen. M. J. Polensbee has been appointed chairman of a committee of the members of the American Legion to assist in the work of the local scouts. It is expected that the boys will shortly have the ample room of the basement of Public School 3 for their weekly work.

The boys are anxious to prove the value of their order in assisting in any good work going on in Forest Hills that is possible for them to do. They expect to make their first Fall hike today.

Several Bishops of the Church visited St. Luke's last week and after a very thorough and careful examination of the structure declared that their new cathedrals would be modeled after St. Luke's. The sign-board has already been duplicated for many parishes throughout the country and another is under construction for a western cathedral.

RADIO MAGAZINE CONDUCTS A QUESTIONNAIRE

Captain Stephen L. Coles, Ascan Avenue, editor of the Radio Magazine of the New York Herald-New York Tribune has been conducting a questionnaire to find out what the radio audience thinks of broadcasting as an element of information, instruction and influence in the present political campaign. From the President of the United States has come this letter to Captain Coles, and it was printed in the Radio Magazine of the New York Herald-New York Tribune of Oct. 12.

"The development of the radio has, of course, provided a marvelous facility for reaching audiences of such number as would have been beyond imagination prior to its invention.

"In my own experience, I have found it the means of saving time, travel and fatigue. Doubtless, it is destined to still greater developments hereafter as a medium of communication and education; but already its practical usefulness is demonstrated beyond the possibility of question.

"Most sincerely yours,

"CALVIN COOLIDGE."

Captain Coles closes his article in Sunday's paper with this statement:

"The summary of the information gained by this interesting experiment would seem to be that a majority of the broadcast listeners like political speeches during the campaign; they prefer them short, not over 15 minutes in length, and they express the opinion that the speaker must have something to say, and say it interestingly."
